

CONTENTS

Preface	7
1. Introduction	9
The Goals of Basic and Applied Science	10
Preventive Intervention: An Illustrative Example of Applied Social Research	13
Case Studies in Social Research Ethics	15
Summary	23
Recommended Readings	24
Chapter Exercises	24
2. An Overview of Ethical Problems in Social Research	26
On Being Ethical and Moral: Is There a Difference?	26
Characteristics of Ethical Problems in Social Research	30
Typology of Ethical Problems in Applied Social Research	36
Summary	40
Recommended Readings	41
Chapter Exercises	41
3. Ethical Standards and Guidelines for Social Research	42
Ethical Theories and Moral Reasoning	42
Governmental and Professional Standards	50
Summary	64
Recommended Readings	64
Chapter Exercises	64
4. Methodological Issues and Dilemmas	66
Informed Consent and Social Research	67
Ethical Issues in the Selection and Assignment of Research Participants	77
Summary	83
Recommended Readings	84
Chapter Exercises	84
5. Confidentiality and the Right to Privacy	85
The Nature and Goals of Privacy	86
The Need to Protect Individual Privacy and Confidentiality of Data	90
Strategies for Protecting Privacy and Confidentiality	97
Summary	102
Recommended Readings	103
Chapter Exercises	103

6. Special Problems in Applied Settings	104
Ethical Issues in Organizational Research	104
Ethics and Evaluation: Some Illustrative Problems	110
Unanticipated Consequences: The “Dark Side” of Prevention Research	114
Ethical Responsibilities When the Research Is Completed	117
Summary	122
Recommended Readings	123
Chapter Exercises	123
7. Attitudes and Value Commitments	124
The Role of Values in Social Research	124
Implications for Peer Review	132
Summary	136
Recommended Readings	137
Chapter Exercises	137
8. Conclusion and Recommendations	138
Summary	144
References	145
Subject Index	158
About the Author	160