

Contents

Preface	xi
CHAPTER ONE: Character
1. Aristotle's Poetics and New Comedy	1
2. Molière's distrust of theorists	2
3. Character: moral and social status	5
4. Comic types and decorum	8
5. Comic types and moral philosophy	10
6. Humours	12
7. Consistency and poetic truth	13
8. Making character visible	15
9. Satirical functions of character	16
CHAPTER TWO: Plot and Action I: The Plots of New Comedy
1. Unity of action	18
2. The plots of New Comedy	18
3. Plautine plots	19
4. Terentian plots	21
5. Molière and New Comedy	24
CHAPTER THREE: Plot and Action II: Comic Fate
1. Plot subject and character	26
2. La Jalouse du Barbouillé	27
3. Sganarelle ou le Cocu imaginaire (1660)	28
4. L'École des maris (1661)	31
5. L'École des femmes (1662)	34
6. The role of secondary characters	35
7. The role of plot	36
8. The dénouement	38

9. Aristotelian action	39
CHAPTER FOUR: Comedy and the Ridiculous	41
1. Comedy as 'an imitation of life, a mirror of custom and an image of truth'	41
2. Follies fit for laughter	43
3. Evil and the ridiculous in New Comedy	44
4. Evil and the ridiculous in the comedies of Molière	46
5. Useful comedy	49
6. The ridiculous and self-love	51
CHAPTER FIVE: Reason and the Ridiculous	55
1. Honest laughter	55
2. The ridiculous and sound learning	56
3. The nature of the ridiculous	57
4. Bienséance, decorum and the golden mean	59
5. The ridiculous made visible	61
CHAPTER SIX: Body and Soul: A Physiology of Laughter	63
1. The moral origins of visible folly	63
2. Farce and moral perspective	65
3. Passion, folly and appearance	67
4. Kinds of laughter	69
CHAPTER SEVEN: Honnêteté	73
1. Comic structures and content	73
2. The ideals of honnêteté	73
3. Honnêteté and the social graces	76
4. Honnêteté as a code for all	78
5. Molière, comic poet and honnête homme	80
CHAPTER EIGHT: Judgement	83
1. Montaigne and judgement	83
2. Unclouded judgement	85
3. Learning through things	87
4. Satire and self-knowledge	88
5. Judgement and laughter	89

CHAPTER NINE: Sociability, Reason and Laughter	93
1. Sociability and the cardinal virtues	93
2. Sociability in L'École des maris	94
3. Sociability and misanthropy	95
4. Alceste and laughter	99
CHAPTER TEN: Families	102
1. A microcosm of society and state	102
2. A testing ground for folly and sense	103
3. Avarice and paternal love	104
4. Homes in chaos	106
5. The servant as defender of the family	108
6. Conservative values	111
CHAPTER ELEVEN: Aristotelian Pedants	113
1. The stereotype of the pedant	113
2. Pedantry and scholasticism	114
3. A unified cosmology?	117
4. Plenum or vacuum?	118
5. The pedant and the honnête homme	121
CHAPTER TWELVE: Medicine	123
1. Medical pedants	123
2. Farce without satire	124
3. Biting satire	125
4. Court doctors	127
5. The Faculty of Paris	130
6. Medicine and authority	132
CHAPTER THIRTEEN: Preciosity	138
1. Les Précieuses ridicules	138
2. La Critique de l'École des femmes (1663)	142
3. Preciosity and family life	144
4. Body and soul in equilibrium	147
5. Philosophy, literature and language	149

CHAPTER FOURTEEN: Le Tartuffe	153
1. Comedy and topicality	153
2. Jansenists, Jesuits and the Compagnie du Saint-Sacrement	154
3. The Jesuit of polemical caricature	156
4. A political satire	158
5. Jesuit policy and Christian doctrine	161
6. Tartuffe as casuist	163
7. Tartuffe as lover	167
8. The importance of secrecy	170
9. Orgon's credulity	171
10. Orgon's family	174
11. The perspective of the honnête homme	175
12. The King's intervention	177
CHAPTER FIFTEEN: Dom Juan and 'the hidden God'	180
1. Science, scepticism and faith	180
2. The views of a Christian sceptic	183
3. A sceptic as libertine	187
4. Dorimon's Festin de Pierre	189
5. Providence in Molière's Dom Juan	191
6. Sganarelle's faith in reason	192
7. An uncertain world	195
8. Signs in the midst of confusion	197
9. Dom Juan's hypocrisy	199
10. Molière's personal standpoint	201
CHAPTER SIXTEEN: Molière's Philosophy	203
1. A portrait of malfunctioning humanity	203
2. A shared vision	205
3. A philosophy of judgement	208
Chronology	210
Notes	215
Bibliography	228
Index	234