PART I. THE CORNERSTONES OF SCIENTIFIC THEORY AND PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS
Chapter 1. On the Nature of Theory	3
Chapter 2. On the Nature of Practice and the Theory-Practice Relationship	13
PART II. FROM MOTIVATION THEORY TO MOTIVATIONAL PRACTICE
Chapter 3. From Kurt Lewin's Social Psychology to Change Processes and Goal Setting	28
Chapter 4. From David McClelland's Achievement-Motivation Theory to Achievement/Power-Motivation Training and Competence Assessment	36
Chapter 5. From Frederick Herzberg's Motivation-Hygiene Theory to Orthodox Job Enrichment	47
Chapter 6. From Greg Oldham and Richard Hackman's Job-Characteristics Theory to Their Approach to Job Enrichment	55
Chapter 7. From Victor Vroom's and Lyman Porter and Edward Lawler's Expectancy Theories to Compensation and Benefits Practices in Rationalized Organizations	67
Chapter 8. From Fred Luthans and Robert Kreitner's Operant-Behavior Theory to Organizational-Behavior Modification	80
Chapter 9. From Stacy Adams's Equity Theory and the Distributive-Justice Construct to Compensation Administration and Training to Foster Organizational Justice	94
Chapter 10. From Edwin Locke and Gary Latham's Goal-Setting Theory to Goal Setting in Organizations	111
Epilogue on Motivation
1. From Harry Levinson's Psychoanalytic Theory to Psychological Assessment (Using the Ego Ideal, Recapitulation of the Family Structure and the Psychological Contract)	126
2. From Elton Mayo's Personality and Motivation Theory to Human-Relations Training and an Approach to Employee Counseling	126
3. From Frederick Taylor's Scientific Management to Time and Motion Study	127

PART III. FROM LEADERSHIP THEORY TO LEADERSHIP PRACTICE

Chapter 11.	From Victor Vroom, Philip Yetton, and Arthur Jago's Normative Decision-Process Theory to the Use of Participative Management	131
Chapter 12.	From Fred Fiedler's Contingency Theory of Leadership to the Leader-Match Approach to Management Development	146
Chapter 13.	From George Graen's Vertical Dyad Linkage/Leader-Member Exchange Theory to High-Quality Interventions Across the Board, and Enhancing Fast-Track Careers	157
Chapter 14.	From Steven Kerr's Substitutes for Leadership to Providing Methods to Improve Influence Processes in Organizations	169
Chapter 15.	From John Miner's Role-Motivation Theory to Managerial Role-Motivation Training and Psychological Assessment	180
Chapter 16.	From Bernard Bass's Transformational-Leadership Theory to Transformational Training	194

Epilogue on Leadership

1.	From Douglas McGregor's Theory X and Theory Y to Participative Management	210
2.	From Frank Heller's Influence-Power Continuum Theory to Participative Management	213

PART IV. FROM DECISION-MAKING THEORY TO DECISION-MAKING PRACTICE

Chapter 17.	From Lee Roy Beach's Image Theory to Organizational Decision Making	215
-------------	---	-----

Epilogue on Decision Making	228
------------------------------------	-----

PART V. FROM SYSTEMS THEORY TO THE PROCESSES AND STRUCTURES OF ORGANIZATIONS

Chapter 18.	From Eric Trist and Fred Emery's Sociotechnical-Systems Theory to Autonomous Work Groups	231
Chapter 19.	From Paul Lawrence and Jay Lorsch's Contingency Theory of Organizations—Differentiation and Integration—to Organization Development and Matrix Structures	247

Epilogue on Systems

1.	From Rensis Likert's Theory of Systems 1–4 and 4T to Participative Management (Particularly Involving Human Resource Accounting and Survey Feedback)	260
2.	From Henri Fayol's Principles and Elements of Managing to the Functions of Management	261

PART VI. FROM BUREAUCRACY-RELATED CONCEPTS TO THE PROCESSES AND STRUCTURES OF ORGANIZATIONS

Chapter 20.	From Max Weber's Theory of Bureaucracy to the Processes and Structures of Hierarchic Organizations	265
Chapter 21.	From Derek Pugh, David Hickson, and Robert Hinings's Theory Underlying the Aston Studies to Organizational Processes and Structuring	276
Chapter 22.	From Peter Blau's Theory of Differentiation to Organizational Processes and Structuring	289
Chapter 23.	From Chris Argyris's Goal-Congruence Theory and His Theory of Organizational Learning to Organization Development (Particularly Involving Learning Seminars)	299
Chapter 24.	From Edgar Schein's Organizational-Culture Theory to Organization Development (Particularly Involving Process Consultation)	316

Epilogue on Bureaucracy

1.	From Victor Thompson's Dysfunctions of Bureaucracy to Dual Hierarchies and Venture Structures	331
2.	From Warren Bennis's Theory of Bureaucratic Demise to Temporary Systems	332
3.	From Robert Blake and Jane Mouton's Grid Theory of Leadership to Grid-Organization Development	332
4.	From Robert Golembiewski's Concept of Alpha, Beta, and Gamma Change to the Evaluation of Organization Development	333

PART VII. FROM SOCIOLOGICAL CONCEPTS OF ORGANIZATION TO MACRO-ORGANIZATIONAL FUNCTIONING

Chapter 25.	From Jeffrey Pfeffer and Gerald Salancik's External Control of Organizations-Resourceing Dependence Perspective to Effectively Operation of Organizations	337
Chapter 26.	From John Meyer and Richard Scott's Neoinstitutional Theory to Management Education	350

Epilogue on Sociological Concepts 364

LIST OF TABLES AND FIGURES

TABLES

2.1	Major Barriers Preventing Transfer of Management Theory to Practice as Noted by Researchers and Managers	15
4.1	Relationships Between Socialized Power (as Reflected in High Power Motivation, Low Affiliation Motivation, and High Inhibition) and Promotion Among Nontechnical Managers	42
5.1	Pre- and Post-Measures of Job Satisfaction for Job-Enrichment Projects (percent experiencing increase)	51
6.1	Correlation Between Motivating Potential Score and Outcome Variables Moderated by Growth-Need Strength and Context Satisfactions	62
7.1	Multiple Correlations for Seven Outcomes of Effort-Reward Probabilities Alone and in Combination with Value of Reward (Valence) as Predictors of Job Effort and Performance	72
7.2	Locations, Program Elements, and Final Status of Pay-for-Performance Plans at Hewlett-Packard	76
8.1	Strategies for Shaping and Modeling	85
9.1	Possible Inputs to and Outcomes from an Employment Exchange (noted by Adams in various writings)	96
9.2	Errors Detected Per Page and Number of Pages Proofed Under Varying Conditions of Equity	100
9.3	Importance of Various Inputs and Outcomes for Clerical and Production Workers	105
11.1	Feasible Sets of Leader Behaviors for Each of 14 Group Problem Types	134
13.1	Relationships Between LMX and Outcome Variables	165
14.1	Effective Coping Strategies That Might Be Used to Deal with Specific Leadership Problems	175
15.1	Schema of Strategic Factors That May Contribute to Ineffective Performance	183
15.2	Significant Correlations Between MSCS—Form H and Peer Nominations Obtained 24 Months Later	189
16.1	Mean Corrected Correlations Between MLQ Scales and Effectiveness Criteria with (Subordinate Ratings) and Without (Organizational Measures) Common-Method Bias	205
18.1	Comparisons of Results of Conventional and Composite Autonomous Group Systems of Coal Mining	236
19.1	Examples of High Environment-Organization-Individual Fit in Production and Research and Development Units	250
20.1	Findings from Meta-Analysis Regarding Determinants of Innovation Rate	272
21.1	Correlations Among Structural Measures and Involving Contextual Variables from the Original Aston Study	281

21.2	Patterns of Relationships (Correlations) Between Contextual and Structural Variables in International Studies	282
21.3	Correlation of Technology and Size with Structural Variables in Two Studies	284
22.1	Correlations Between Various Indexes of Formalization or Control and Indexes of Centralization in State Employment Agencies	293
23.1	Conditions for the Use of Structures Having Varying Degrees of Axiological Goodness	300
23.2	Model I Theory in Use	304
23.3	Model II Theory in Use	305
26.1	The Roles and Workings of Cognitive, Normative, and Regulative Processes	353

FIGURES

1.1	The Components of Theories and How They Function	5
3.1	Kurt Lewin's Force-Field Analysis of the Change Process	31
7.1	Lawler's (1981) Portrayal of the Basic Expectancy Theory Model	70
10.1	Model of the High-Performance Cycle	117
10.2	Model of the Motivation Sequence	118
11.1	Decision Tree for Arriving at Feasible Sets of Leader Behaviors for Different Group Problem Types	133
12.1	The Octants of Contingency Theory	148
12.2	Effects of Leadership Training on Subsequent Performance as Moderated by Situational Favorableness
15.1	Outline of the Role-Motivation Theories of Leadership	182
16.1	Transactional and Transformational Leadership	195
17.1	The Elements and Diagrams of Image Theory	216
17.2	Organizational Framework for Understanding Decision Making	222
18.1	Gulowsen's Group-Autonomy Scale	238
23.1	The Distinction Between Single-Loop and Double-Loop Learning	302
24.1	Growth Stages, Functions of Culture, and Change Mechanisms	322
25.1	Relationships Among the Dimensions of Organizational Environments	339
25.2	A Model of Organizational Adaptation to Environmental Constraints via Succession	341
26.1	A Layered Model of Institutional Process	352
