

TABLE OF CONTENTS

About the Editors	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
INTRODUCTION
On Broadening Philosophical Horizons Hugh J. Silverman	xiii
PART ONE: HUSSERL
1. Questions of Method: On Describing the Individual as Exemplary José Huertas-Jourda	3
2. The Necessity of Intersubjectivity Kathleen M. Haney	32
3. Existence and Essence in Thomas and Husserl James R. Mensch	62
4. A Phenomenological Exploration of Popper's 'World 3' Lenore Langsdorf and Harry Reeder	93
PART TWO: HEIDEGGER
5. Dwelling Eugene T. Gendlin	133
6. Textuality and the Origin of the Work of Art Hugh J. Silverman	153

7. On the Occlusion of the Subject:
Heidegger and Lacan
Wilhelm S. Wurzer 168
8. From the Deconstruction of Hermeneutics to the Hermeneutics of Deconstruction
John D. Caputo 190

PART THREE: MERLEAU-PONTY

9. Communication Science and Merleau-Ponty's
Critique of the Objectivist Illusion
Richard L. Lanigan 205
10. Merleau-Ponty: The Depth of Memory as the Depth of the World
Glen A. Mazis 227
11. Towards an Erotics of Art
Allen S. Weiss 251
12. Merleau-Ponty on Silence
and the Work of Philosophy
Véronique Fóti 272

- Notes on Contributors 289
- Index 293