

TABLE OF CONTENTS

EDITORIAL PREFACE	vii
TRANSLATORS' FOREWORD	xiii
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xix
AUTHOR'S PREFACE	xxi

PART ONE: THE PHENOMENOLOGICAL METHOD AND ITS ACTUAL REAL CONTENT

CHAPTER ONE: THE INTUITION OF ESSENCES

1. The Technique of Variation	3
2. Pure Idealities and Empirical Idealities	6
3. The True Significance of the Notion of Essence	8
4. Difficulties with the Objectivism of Essences. The Return to the Subject	9

CHAPTER TWO: THE THEMATIZATION OF CONCRETE CONSCIOUSNESS

5. The Return to Lived Experience in the Logische Untersuchungen	13
6. The Discovery of the Reduction	20
7. The Exposition of the Ideen	29
8. The Critique of the Kantians	37
9. Fink's Reply. The Necessity of a More Radical Explanation	39
10. The Notion of Constitution. The Signification of Transcendental Idealism	43
11. The Constitution of the World of the Spirit	47
12. The Notion of Object. Perception and Judgment	50

CHAPTER THREE: THE PROBLEMS OF REASON

13. Self-Evidence (Évidence) and Truth	69
14. The problem of Error	73
15. [Self-] Evidence as Intentional Performance (Intentionale Leistung)	77

16. The Possibility of Error as Contemporaneous with Truth	82
17. A Digression — The Theory of Evidence According to Descartes and the Problem of the Cartesian Circle	87
18. Phenomenological Description as a Critique of Authenticity: Static and Genetic Constitution	90
19. The Constitution of the Formal Domain: Logic and Mathematics	99
20. The Genesis of Judgment	111
CHAPTER FOUR: THE RESULT OF PHENOMENOLOGY
21. The Genesis of Antepredicative Experience and Its Real Content	121
PART TWO: THE DIALECTIC OF REAL MOVEMENT
INTRODUCTION TO PART TWO
1. Consciousness and Matter	133
CHAPTER ONE: THE DIALECTIC OF ANIMAL BEHAVIOR AS THE BECOMING OF SENSE CERTAINTY
2. Phenomenological Givens and Real Givens	143
3. The Movement of the Internal Sense	146
4. The Movement of the External Sense	156
5. Remarks on the Preceding Development: The Passage to the Dialectic of Human Societies	172
CHAPTER TWO: THE DIALECTIC OF HUMAN SOCIETIES AS THE BECOMING OF REASON
6. Use-Value and the Movement of Sacrifice	179
7. The Movement of Wealth and the Becoming of the Gods	189
8. Mercantile Economy and the Sacrifice of the Savior, God	194
9. Monetary Economy, the Transcendence of the Idea, and the Concept of Salvation	201
10. Capitalistic Economy, the Power of Abstraction and the Proletarian Revolution	212
APPENDIX	219
NOTES	221
BIBLIOGRAPHY OF WORKS CITED	241
INDEX OF NAMES	243