

CONTENTS

Preface ix

Introductory essay: On the possibility of transcendental philosophy xiii

Group I

- Essay 1. Husserl, Frege and the overcoming of psychologism 1
Essay 2. Intentionality and noema 13
Essay 3. Intentionality and “possible worlds” 25
Essay 4. Husserlian phenomenology and the de re and de dicto intentionalities 45
Essay 5. Rorty, phenomenology and transcendental philosophy 57
Essay 6. Intentionality, causality and holism 67

Group II

- Essay 7. Towards a phenomenology of self-evidence 83
Essay 8. “Life-world” and “a priori” in Husserl’s later thought 101
Essay 9. Intentionality and the mind/body problem 121
Essay 10. Consciousness and life-world 139
Essay 11. Consciousness and existence: Remarks on the relation between Husserl and Heidegger 155
Essay 12. On the roots of reference: Quine, Piaget, and Husserl 167

Group III

Essay 13. Husserl's transcendental phenomenology and essentialism	191
Essay 14. The destiny of transcendental philosophy	213
Essay 15. Transcendental philosophy and the hermeneutic critique of consciousness	223
Index	247