CONTENTS

Notes on Contributors x
List of Illustrations xii

Introduction: Some Answers to the Question: 'What is Postcolonial Enlightenment?' 1
Lynn Festa and Daniel Carey
I Provincializing Enlightenment 5
II Enlightenment without others 17
III Postcolonial Enlightenment(s) 22

Part One: Subjects and Sovereignty

1. Hobbes and America 37
Srinivas Aravamudan
I The early colonial history of Virginia and Bermuda 43
II The theoretical reduction of America to Company colonization 53
III From theoretical reduction to oceanic expansion 64

2. The Pathological Sublime: Pleasure and Pain in the Colonial Context 71
David Lloyd
I Aesthetic culture 71
II The narrative of development 76
III The abyss of blackness 95

Part Two: Enlightenment Categories and Postcolonial Classifications

3. Reading Contrapuntally: Robinson Crusoe, Slavery, and Postcolonial Theory 105
Daniel Carey
I Contrapuntal reading 109
II Robinson Crusoe and the subject of slavery 112
III Rereading Robinson Crusoe 125
IV Conclusion 135

4. Between 'Oriental' and 'Blacks So Called', 1688–1788 137
Felicity A. Nussbaum
I Shades of blackness 142
II Africa Orientalized 153
III Postcolonial theory and the eighteenth century 164

5. Orientalism and the Permanent Fix of War 167
Siraj Ahmed
I Precolonial and early colonial Orientalism 176
II Jones and mythic law 184
III Precolonial and early colonial sovereignty 191
IV A spatio-temporal fix for Bengal 196

Part Three: Nation, Colony, and Enlightenment Universality

6. Of Speaking Natives and Hybrid Philosophers: Lahontan, Diderot, and the French Enlightenment Critique of Colonialism 207
Doris L. Garraway
I Mimicry and hybridity in Lahontan's Dialogues avec un sauvage 211
II Parodic mimicry and utopia in Diderot's Supplément au voyage de Bougainville 220
III Dialogue, critique, and the imagined consent of the colonized 233

7. Universalism, Diversity, and the Postcolonial Enlightenment 240
Daniel Carey and Sven Trakulhun
I Enlightenment and diversity: three contexts 243
II Kant's universalism 254

III German Ethnographie and universal history 267
IV The German critique of colonialism 273
V Universalism and diversity? 277

8. 'These Nations Newton Made his Own': Poetry, Knowledge, and British Imperial Globalization 281
Karen O'Brien
I Newtonian laws of empire 287
II Cowper and the moral order of knowledge 299

Coda: How to Write Postcolonial Histories of Empire? 305
Suvir Kaul

Bibliography 328
Index 363