

Contents

PREFACE IX

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS XXI

- ONE. Fictionalizing Acts 1
Tacit Knowledge of Fiction and Reality 1 / The Triad: The Real, the Fictive, and the Imaginary 2 / Functional Differentiation of Fictionalizing Acts: Selection, Combination, Self-Disclosure 4
- TWO. Renaissance Pastoralism as a Paradigm of Literary Fictionality 22
Scenarios of Pastoral Poetry in Antiquity 25 / The Eclogue and Its Referential Reality 34 / The Two Worlds of the Pastoral Romance 46 / Literary Fictionality as Staging, Ecstasy, and Transforming Process 69 / Anthropological Implications: On Doubling and Totality 79
- THREE. Fiction Thematized in Philosophical Discourse 87
Introduction: Beyond Empiricism 87 / Fiction as Idol: Francis Bacon and Criticism 93 / Fiction as Modality: Jeremy Bentham and Affirmation 110 / Fiction as a Transparent Posit: Hans Vaihinger and Neo-Kantian Schematism 130 / Fiction as Differential: Nelson Goodman and Constructivism 152 / The Chameleon of Cognition: Some Conclusions about Fiction 164

- FOUR. The Imaginary 171
Historical Preliminaries 171 / The Imagination as Faculty (Coleridge) 186 / The Imaginary as Act (Sartre) 194 / The Radical Imaginary (Castoriadis) 204 / Interplay between the Fictive and the Imaginary 222 / Excursus: Beckett's Imagination Dead Imagine and Fantasy Literature 238
- FIVE. Text Play 247
The Play of Map and Territory 247 / The Tilting Game of Imitation and Symbolization 250 / Games in the Text 257 / Playing and Being Played 273
- SIX. Epilogue 281
Mimesis and Performance 281 / Staging as an Anthropological Category 296
- NOTES 305
- INDEX OF NAMES 343