

Contents

	Introduction: The Analytic Instinct and the Art of the Crash	1
1	Literature and the Museum Idea	22
2	Realism and the Gordian Knot of Aesthetics and Politics	69
3	Women and the Realism of Desire	109
4	Celebrity Warriors, Impossible Diplomats, and the Native Public Sphere	151
5	Black Bohemia and the African American Novel	188
6	Wharton, Mass Travel, and the “Possible Crash”	218
7	Neurological Modernity and American Social Thought	247
	Conclusion: Literary Analysis and the Perception of Incongruities	288
	Notes	303
	Index	349
	Acknowledgments	363