

Yale French Studies

NUMBER 99

Jean-François Lyotard: Time and Judgment

---

|   |     |   |
|---|-----|---|
| ROBERT HARVEY ANDLAWRENCE R. SCHEHR | 1   | Editors' Preface  |
| MICHEL BUTOR                            | 6   | Recollections on Jean-FrançoisLyotard   |
| MARY LYDON                              | 10  | Veduta on Discours, figure   |
| TOM CONLEY                              | 27  | From Rebut to Rébus   |
| CHRISTOPHER FYNISK                      | 44  | Jean-François's Infancy   |
| LAWRENCE R. SCHEHR                      | 62  | Lyotard's Codpiece  |
| NIELS BRÜGGER                           | 77  | What about the Postmodern? TheConcept of the Postmodern in theWork of Lyotard                                     |
| MICHEL DEGUY                            | 93  | Dialogue and Différend   |
| ROBERT HARVEY                           | 102 | Telltale at the Passages  |
| RODOLPHE GASCHÉ                         | 117 | The Sublime, OntologicallySpeaking  |
| PAUL HARRIS                             | 129 | Thinking @ the Speed of Time:Globalization and its Dis-contentsor, Can Lyotard's Thought Go onwithout a Body? |
| ANNE TOMICHE                            | 149 | Lyotard and / on Literature   |