

Contents

| | |
|--|------|
| Foreword by Melvin J. Friedman | vii |
| Preface | xiii |
| Acknowledgements | xiv |
| Notes on the Contributors | xv |
| 1 'Out of the Dark': Beckett's Texts for Radio Robert Wilcher | 1 |
| 2 Past into Future: Krapp's Last Tape to Breath Katharine Worth | 18 |
| 3 Towards the Zero of Language Martin Esslin | 35 |
| 4 The Self Contained: Beckett's Fiction in the 1960s Rubin Rabinovitz | 50 |
| 5 Still to Worstward Ho : Beckett's Prose Fiction Since The Lost Ones Brian Finney | 65 |
| 6 Beckett's Fundamental Theatre: the Plays from Not I to What Where Charles R. Lyons | 80 |
| 7 Human Reality and Dramatic Method: Catastrophe , Not I and the Unpublished Plays Dougald McMillan | 98 |
| 8 The Shape of Ideas: That Time and Footfalls James Acheson | 115 |
| 9 Texts for Company Kateryna Arthur | 136 |
| 10 Ill Seen Ill Said and the Sense of an Ending Nicholas Zurbrugg | 145 |
| 11 Voyelles , Cromlechs and the Special (W)rites of Worstward Ho Enoch Brater | 160 |
| 12 Beckett's New Godot Colin Duckworth | 175 |
| 13 Company for Company : Androgyny and Theatricality in Samuel Beckett's Prose S. E. Gontarski | 193 |
| Index | 203 |