

Contents

Introduction: Borders and States of In-Betweenness in Irish Literature and Culture IRENE GILSENAN NORDIN and ELIN HOLMSTEN	7
--	---

PART I. Liminal States

1 Limning the Liminal, Thinking the Threshold: Irish Studies' Approach to Theory MICHAEL G. O'SULLIVAN	17
2 Images of Migration in Irish Film: Thinking Inside the Box CHERYL TEMPLE HERR	35

PART II. Liminal Narratives

3 History in/of the Borderlands: Emily Lawless and the Story of Ireland HEIDI HANSSON	51
4 "The Other' that Moves and Misleads": Mapping and Temporality in Éilís Ní Dhuibhne's The Dancer's Dancing SUSAN CAHILL	69

PART III. Drama as Liminal Rites of Passage

5 Movement as Text, Text as Movement: The Choreographic Writing of Samuel Beckett LOTTA PALMERSTIERNA EINARSSON	87
---	----

6	Caught in the Liminal: Dorothy Cross's Udder Series and Marina Carr's By the Bog of Cats...	103
	RÓISÍN O'GORMAN
PART IV. Transformative Spaces in Contemporary Irish Women's Poetry
7	Identity as Becoming: Polymorphic Female Identities in the Poetry of Boland, Meehan and Ní Dhomhnaill	131
	KATARZYNA POLOCZEK
8	"So Much Psychic Land [...] to Reclaim": Otherworldly Encounters in Nuala Ní Dhomhnaill's Poetry	151
	MICHAELA SCHRAGE-FRÜH
9	The (Translato)logic of Spectrality: Nuala Ní Dhomhnaill and Her English Doubles	173
	MARYNA ROMANETS
	Contributors	197
	Index	201