

Contents

I. THE PROBLEM OF POLITICAL FREEDOM	I
1. A Journey of Exploration	1
2. The Importance of Politics	3
3. The Revisionist Challenge	6
4. The Presumption of Liberty	8
5. The Simple Principle	12
6. The Inadequacy of Linguistic Analysis	14
7. Liberalism and Individualism	16

I. The Bounds of Authority

2. AUTHORITY AND REASON	23
1. Authority and Justified Power	23
2. The Recognitional Conception	28
3. The Inspirational Conception	31
4. Content-Independent Reasons	35
3. THE JUSTIFICATION OF AUTHORITY	38
1. 'Surrendering One's Judgement'	38
2. The Dependence Thesis	42
3. The Justification of Authority	53
4. The Pre-emptive Thesis	57
5. Objections	62
4. THE AUTHORITY OF STATES	70
1. The Normal Justification of Political Authority	70
2. Consent	80
3. Consent as the Foundation of Authority	88
4. Respect for Law	94
5. The Political Obligation	99

II. Anti-Perfectionism

5. NEUTRAL POLITICAL CONCERN	110
1. Forms of Neutrality	111
2. The Impossibility of Strict Political Neutrality	117
3. Neutrality and the Social Role of Justice	124
4. From Neutrality to Pluralism	130

6. THE EXCLUSION OF IDEALS	134
1. Preliminaries	134
2. Political Welfarism	137
3. Treating People as Ends	145
4. Coercion and Autonomy	148
5. On Some Underlying Intuitions	157
 III. Individualistic Freedom: Liberty and Rights
7. THE NATURE OF RIGHTS	165
1. Rights: The Main Features	165
2. Core and Derivative Rights	168
3. The Correlativity of Rights and Duties	170
4. Holding Individuals to be Under a Duty	171
5. Promises and Agreements	173
6. Capacity for Rights	176
7. Rights and Interests	180
8. Rights and Duties	183
9. The Importance of Rights	186
8. RIGHT-BASED MORALITIES	193
1. Some Preliminary Doubts	194
2. Rights and Individualism	198
3. Autonomy and Rights	203
4. Collective Rights	207
5. Intrinsic Duties	210
6. Rights and Narrow Morality	213
9. EQUALITY	217
1. The Problem	217
2. Equality as Universal Entitlement	221
3. Principles of Equal Distribution in Conflict	222
4. Egalitarian Principles	225
5. Rhetorical Egalitarianism	227
6. Strict Egalitarianism	229
7. The Presuppositions of Egalitarianism	233
8. The Rejection of Egalitarianism	240
10. LIBERTY AND RIGHTS	245
1. Is Liberty Based on Rights?	245
2. The Collective Aspect of Liberal Rights	250
3. An Alternative View of Constitutional Rights	255

IV. Society and Value

11. CONSEQUENTIALISM: AN INTRODUCTION	267
1. Consequentialism: Some Common Themes	268
2. Separateness of Persons: Trade-Offs	271
3. Separateness of Persons: Agent-Neutrality	277
4. Separateness of Persons: Integrity	284
12. PERSONAL WELL-BEING	288
1. Personal Goals	288
2. Well-Being and Self-Interest	294
3. Goals and Reasons	300
4. The Primacy of Action Reasons	305
5. Social Forms	307
6. The Inseparability of Morality and Well-Being	313
13. INCOMMENSURABILITY	321
1. The Concept	322
2. Incommensurability and Rough Equality	328
3. Denying Comparability	335
4. The Incomparability of Comprehensive Goals	340
5. Constitutive Incommensurabilities	345
6. Loyalty and Commitment	353
7. Moral Dilemmas	357

V. Freedom and Politics

14. AUTONOMY AND PLURALISM	369
1. Personal Autonomy	369
2. Autonomy and Value	378
3. The Value of Autonomy	390
4. Value Pluralism	395
15. FREEDOM AND AUTONOMY	400
1. Pluralism and Intolerance	401
2. Autonomy-Based Freedom	407
3. Autonomy and the Harm Principle	412
4. Beyond the Harm Principle	420
5. The Shape of Freedom	424
INDEX	431