

Editor's Introduction	7
1 To regain ourselves	11
2 The dual function of current psychological research	24
3 Conceptual analysis as a method	35
4 Integration and fragmentation	45
5 The classical view of science: the religion of Newton	71
6 Psychology as a moral science of action	84
7 Agency, indeterminacy and time	105
8 George Kelly and George Mead	115
9 Images of man and their function in human affairs	124
10 The human nature of human nature	129
References and Name Index	137
Subject Index	143