

CONTENT

Preface	7
Introduction	13
1. The Phenomenon of Economic Globalization	17
1.1. Symptoms, Causes and Effects	17
1.2. From Linear Causality to Deterministic Chaos	21
1.3. From Internationalization to Globalization of Trades and M&A	27
2. Analyzing the Structure of Industry	29
2.1. Business Type Classification	29
2.2. Value Chain Stage and Related Business Types	36
3. Deriving Typologies of Globalization	41
3.1. The Natural Types of Globalization	41
3.1.1. Type 1: Material Globalization	42
3.1.2. Type 2: Immaterial Globalization	45
3.1.3. The Natural Types Globalization Model	48
3.1.4. Value Chain Stage and Related Globalization Types	52
3.2. The Transient Types of Globalization	54
3.2.1. Type 1c: Opportunistic Globalization	54
3.2.2. Type 3: Globalization of Human Factor	61
3.2.3. Duration of Transition	63
4. Modeling the Intrinsic Nature of Globalization	67
4.1. The Limitation of Comparative Cost Advantages	67
4.2. Enlarging Neoclassic Modeling	71
4.3. The "Post-Neoclassic" View of Trade and Competition	79
4.3.1. Type 1a: The Latent Value of a Resource	80
4.3.2. Type 1b: The Competitiveness Factor	84
4.3.3. Type 1c: The Propensity to Export	95
4.3.4. Type 2: The Intrinsic Market Fragmentation	98
4.3.5. Type 3: The Comparative Skill	100
4.4. Measuring the Extension of Total Globalization	102

5. Equality as a Natural Law	105
5.1. Inequality as a Measure of Risk	106
5.1.1. Introductory Concepts: The Minimum Risk Principle	106
5.1.2. Applying the Concept of Risk to Globalization	112
5.2. Risk as a Governing Law of Globalization	125
5.2.1. Foreign Trade Structure and Associated Intrinsic Risk for One Product: The Central Theorem of Globalization	126
5.2.2. Analyzing Globalization Patterns of Foreign Trade: The Theorem of Minimum Risk	135
5.2.3. Risk within Closed and Open Systems: The Effect of Competitive Moves and M&A	138
5.3. Applying the Minimum Risk Principle to Political Economy	144
5.3.1. Risk of Structural Supply-Demand Composition for Several Products	144
5.3.2. Coverage and Associated Endogenous and Exogenous Risk	157
5.3.3. Co-Risk for an Integrated Value Chain	165
5.4. Conclusive Interpretation of Risk	170
6. Maximizing Value as an Overall Governing Economic Rationale	173
6.1. Maximizing Profit and Minimizing Risk	174
6.2. The Apparent Paradox	183
6.3. The Governing Rationale: Maximizing Risk Deducted Value Creation	184
6.4. The Individual Risk Premium	187
6.5. Relation to CAPM	190
7. The Five Post-Neoclassic Postulates of Globalization	173
Epilog	197
References	199
Author	201