

Contents

Acknowledgements	vi
Foreword by Dr David Lamb	vii
Author's preface	xiii
Part I Foundations of personal freedom
1 The dimension of personal freedom	1
2 Freedom in the realm of consciousness	30
3 Knowledge and personal freedom	47
4 Refutations of reductionism	59
5 Rejection of atomistic and holistic automatism	72
6 The significance of the environment	88
7 Critique of psycho-analysis	98
8 Challenge of the body	110
9 Acknowledgement of mental illness	116
10 Objections to hedonism	128
Part II Existential psychotherapy
11 Methods of existential treatment	139
12 The existential therapist and his patient	150
13 Existential psychotherapy for the individual	164
14 Existential psychotherapy for the group	197
Conclusion: Validation of the existential ethic	207
References	211
Index	225