Contents

Preface and acknowledgement  xiii
Personae  xvi

PART I

Introduction  1

1 Suicide as a Chinese problem  3
   1.1 Understanding suicide in China  3
   1.2 Fieldwork and methodology  6
   1.3 Theory, thesis and structure of this book  10

2 Two philosophies about suicide  15
   2.1 Sociological and psychiatric studies of suicide  15
   2.2 The state of suicide  17
   2.3 Ming and family life  22
   2.4 Qi and “behaving as a person”  26

PART II

Domestic justice  31

3 Familial love  33
   3.1 Conjugal love  33
   3.2 Parental love  37
   3.3 Filial piety  40
   Discussion  44

4 Family politics  46
   4.1 The margin of the family  46
   4.2 A troubled family  53
PART III

Human dignity

6 Suicide and madness
   6.1 Excluded suicide 93
   6.2 The abnormal 95
   6.3 Non-persons 101
   Discussion 105

7 Gambling for qi
   7.1 Impulsivity 107
   7.2 Long-term gamble 112
   Discussion 118

8 Face
   8.1 Spiritedness 122
   8.2 Loss of personhood 131
   Discussion 139

9 Thinking through
   9.1 Having tunnel vision 141
   9.2 Heart and lungs 146
   Discussion 153

PART IV

Conclusion: suicide as a public affair

10 Public justice
   10.1 Interfamily conflicts 159
   10.2 Clear heaven 165
   10.3 Public injustice 171
   Discussion 179