

Contents

List of Contributors	xi
Preface	xiii
1 Introduction: Rising Test Scores and What They Mean Ulric Neisser	3
Part One: Gains on Intelligence Tests
2 IQ Gains Over Time: Toward Finding the Causes James R. Flynn	25
3 Environmental Complexity and the Flynn Effect Carmi Schooler	67
4 The Cultural Evolution of IQ Patricia M. Greenfield	81
5 Are We Raising Smarter Children Today? School- and Home-Related Influences on IQ Wendy M. Williams	125
6 The Role of Nutrition in the Development of Intelligence Marian Sigman and Shannon E. Whaley	155
7 Nutrition and the Worldwide Rise in IQ Scores Reynaldo Martorell	183
8 In Support of the Nutrition Theory Richard Lynn	207
Part Two: A Narrowing Gap in School Achievement
9 Trends in Black–White Test-Score Differentials: I. Uses and Misuses of NAEP/SAT Data Robert M. Hauser	219

10	Exploring the Rapid Rise in Black Achievement Scores in the United States (1970–1990) David W. Grissmer, Stephanie Williamson, Sheila Nataraj Kirby, and Mark Berends	251
11	The Shrinking Gap Between High- and Low-Scoring Groups: Current Trends and Possible Causes Stephen J. Ceci, Tina B. Rosenblum, and Matthew Kumpf	287
12	Trends in Black–White Test-Score Differentials: II. The WORDSUM Vocabulary Test Min-Hsiung Huang and Robert M. Hauser	303
Part Three: The Hypothesis of Dysgenic Trends
13	The Decline of Genotypic Intelligence Richard Lynn	335
14	Problems in Inferring Dysgenic Trends for Intelligence Irwin D. Waldman	365
15	Differential Fertility by IQ and the IQ Distribution of a Population Samuel H. Preston	377
16	Whither Dysgenics? Comments on Lynn and Preston John C. Loehlin	389
Author Index		399
Subject Index		411
About the Editor		415