PART ONE. INTRODUCTION

1 The Nature and Scope of Economics	3
1.1 Economics as a Social Science	4
1.2 “Economic Man”	9
Rationality	9
Human Goals – The Self-Interest Assumption	12
Ignorance and Uncertainty	16
1.3 Market and Nonmarket Interactions	16
1.4 Allocation by Prices – The Market System	18
1.5 Behavior within Organizations	20
1.6 Positive and Normative Analysis: “Is” versus “Ought”	20
1.7 Elements of the Economic System	21
Decision-Making Agents in the Economy	21
Scarcity, Objects of Choice, and Economic Activities	22
1.8 Microeconomics and Macroeconomics	23
SUMMARY	23
QUESTIONS	24
2 Working Tools	27
2.1 Equilibrium: Supply-Demand Analysis	28
Balancing Supply and Demand	28
How Changes in Supply and Demand Affect Equilibrium	30
Algebra of Supply-Demand Analysis	36
An Application: Introducing a New Supply Source	38
Taxes on Transactions	39
An Application: Interdicting Supply	43
Price Ceilings and Price Floors	46
2.2 Finding an Optimum	49
The Logic of Total, Average, and Marginal Concepts	50
How Total, Average, and Marginal Magnitudes Are Related	54
An Application: Foraging – When Is It Time to Pack Up and Leave?	59

SUMMARY	61
QUESTIONS	62
PART TWO. PREFERENCE, CONSUMPTION, AND DEMAND
3 Utility and Preference	69
3.1 The Laws of Preference	70
3.2 Utility and Preference	72
Cardinal versus Ordinal Utility	73
Utility of Commodity Baskets	77
3.3 Characteristics of Indifference Curves	79
3.4 More on Goods and Bads	83
An Application: Charity	85
3.5 The Sources and Content of Preferences	86
SUMMARY	90
QUESTIONS	90
4 Consumption and Demand	93
4.1 The Optimum of the Consumer	94
The Geometry of Consumer Choice	94
Optimum of the Consumer (Cardinal Utility)	97
Optimum of the Consumer (Ordinal Utility)	100
4.2 Complements and Substitutes	104
4.3 The Consumer's Response to Changing Opportunities	107
The Income Expansion Path	107
The Engel Curve	110
Price Expansion Path and Demand Curve	112
4.4 Income and Substitution Effects of a Price Change	115
An Application: How Can the Giffen Case Come About? How Likely Is It?	117
4.5 From Individual Demand to Market Demand	118
4.6 An Application: Subsidy versus Voucher	120
SUMMARY	122
QUESTIONS	124
5 Applications and Extensions of Demand Theory	127
5.1 The Engel Curve and the Income Elasticity of Demand	128
5.2 The Demand Curve and the Price Elasticity of Demand	132
5.3 The Cross-Elasticity of Demand	136
5.4 Fitting a Demand Curve	137
Constant Slope versus Constant Elasticity	138
General Demand Functions	139
5.5 Determinants of Responsiveness of Demand to Price	142
5.6 Multiple Constraints – Rationing	144
Coupon Rationing	144
Point Rationing	146
SUMMARY	151
QUESTIONS	152

PART THREE. THE FIRM AND THE INDUSTRY

6 The Business Firm	157
6.1 Why Firms? Entrepreneur, Owner, Manager	158
Economic Profit versus Accounting Profit	160
The Separation of Ownership and Control	160
6.2 The Optimum of the Firm in Pure Competition	165
The Shutdown Decision	172
An Application: Division of Output among Plants	174
6.3 Cost Functions	176
Short Run versus Long Run	176
Rising Costs and Diminishing Returns	180
6.4 An Application: Peak versus Off-Peak Operation	182
SUMMARY	186
QUESTIONS	187
7 Equilibrium in the Product Market – Competitive Industry	191
7.1 The Supply Function	192
From Firm Supply to Market Supply: The Short Run	192
Long-Run and Short-Run Supply	195
External Economies and Diseconomies	199
7.2 Firm Survival and the Zero-Profit Theorem	201
7.3 The Benefits of Exchange: Consumer Surplus and Producer Surplus	203
An Application: The Water–Diamond Paradox	205
An Application: Benefits of an Innovation	206
7.4 Transaction Taxes and Other Hindrances to Trade	207
Transaction Taxes	208
Supply Quotas	209
An Application: Import Quotas	210
Price Ceilings and “Shortages”	213
SUMMARY	217
QUESTIONS	218
8 Monopolies, Cartels, and Networks	221
8.1 The Monopolist’s Profit-Maximizing Optimum	222
Price-Quantity Solution	222
Monopoly versus Competitive Solutions	226
An Application: Author versus Publisher	228
An Application: Monopolist with Competitive Fringe	231
8.2 Monopoly and Economic Efficiency	231
8.3 Regulation of Monopoly	234
8.4 Monopolistic Price Discrimination	238
Market Segmentation	238
Block Pricing	241
Perfect Discrimination	243
8.5 Cartels	244

8.6 Network Externalities	248
Demand for a Network Good	248
Monopoly or Competition?	250
The Lock-in Issue	250
SUMMARY	253
QUESTIONS	254
9 Product Quality and Product Variety	257
9.1 Quality	258
Quality under Competition and Monopoly	259
An Application: Suppression of Inventions	263
Cartels and Quality	265
9.2 Variety	266
Product Variety under Monopoly	268
Blending Monopoly and Competition – Monopolistic Competition	270
SUMMARY	275
QUESTIONS	276
10 Competition Among the Few: Oligopoly and Strategic Behavior	279
10.1 Strategic Behavior: The Theory of Games	280
Patterns of Payoffs	280
An Application: Public Goods – Two-Person versus Multiperson Prisoners' Dilemma	282
Pure Strategies	283
Mixed Strategies	286
10.2 Duopoly – Identical Products	288
Quantity Competition	289
Price Competition	293
An Application: “Most-Favored-Customer” Clause	295
10.3 Duopoly – Differentiated Products	297
Quantity Competition	297
Price Competition	298
10.4 Oligopoly, Collusion, and Numbers	300
An Application: The “Kinked” Demand Curve	300
Oligopoly and Numbers	302
SUMMARY	304
QUESTIONS	304
11 Dealing with Uncertainty – The Economics of Risk and Information	307
11.1 Decisions under Uncertainty	308
Expected Gain versus Expected Utility	308
Risk Aversion	309
Risk-Bearing and Insurance	312
11.2 The Value of Information	316
11.3 Asymmetric Information	317
Adverse Selection – The Lemons Problem	317

Conveying Quality through Reputation	321
Do Prices Signal Quality? Information as a Public Good	323
Conveying Information – Advertising	325
11.4 Herd Behavior and Informational Cascades	325
11.5 Copyright, Patents, and Intellectual Property Rights	328
SUMMARY	332
QUESTIONS	334
PART FOUR. FACTOR MARKETS AND INCOME DISTRIBUTION
12 The Demand for Factor Services	339
12.1 Production and Factor Employment with a Single Variable Input	340
The Production Function	340
Diminishing Returns	340
From Production Function to Cost Function	343
The Firm's Demand for a Single Variable Input	345
12.2 Production and Factor Employment with Several Variable Inputs	349
The Production Function	350
Factor Balance and Factor Employment	355
The Firm's Demand for Inputs	358
12.3 The Industry's Demand for Inputs	362
12.4 Monopsony in the Factor Market	364
12.5 An Application: Minimum-Wage Laws	366
SUMMARY	371
QUESTIONS	373
13 Resource Supply and Factor-Market Equilibrium	375
13.1 The Optimum of the Resource-Owner	376
An Application: The Incentive Effects of "Welfare" and Social Security	382
13.2 Personnel Economics: Managerial Applications of Employment Theory	385
The Principal-Agent Problem	385
Paying by the Piece	386
Signalling	389
13.3 Factor-Market Equilibrium	390
From Individual Supply to Market Supply	390
Demand and Supply Together	391
An Application: Sources of Growing Wage Inequality	392
13.4 Monopolies and Cartels in Factor Supply	395
13.5 The "Functional" Distribution of Income	397
The Traditional Classification: Land, Labor, and Capital	397
Capital, Rate of Return, and Interest	398
13.6 Economic Rent	402
SUMMARY	403
QUESTIONS	404

PART FIVE. EXCHANGE

14 Exchange, Transaction Costs, and Money	409
14.1 Pure Exchange: The Edgeworth Box	410
14.2 Supply and Demand in Pure Exchange	416
An Application: Market Experiments in Economics	420
14.3 Exchange and Production	423
14.4 Imperfect Markets: Costs of Exchange	430
How Perfect Are Markets?	430
Proportional Transaction Costs	433
Lump-Sum Transaction Costs	437
14.5 The Role of Money	440
Money as Medium of Exchange	440
Money as Temporary Store of Value	442
14.6 An Application: Auctions	443
The English Auction	445
Sealed-Bid Second-Price Auction	445
Sealed-Bid First-Price Auction	445
The Dutch Auction	446
SUMMARY	448
QUESTIONS	449

PART SIX. ECONOMICS AND TIME

15 The Economics of Time	455
15.1 Present versus Future	456
15.2 Consumption Choices over Time: Pure Exchange	459
Borrowing-Lending Equilibrium with Zero Net Investment	459
An Application: Double Taxation of Saving?	461
15.3 Production and Consumption over Time: Saving and Investment	464
15.4 Investment Decisions and Project Analysis	468
The Separation Theorem	468
The Present-Value Rule	469
The Rate of Return (ROR) Rule	475
15.5 Real Interest and Monetary Interest: Allowing for Inflation	479
15.6 The Multiplicity of Interest Rates	482
An Application: The Discount Rate for Project Analysis	485
15.7 The Fundamentals of Investment, Saving, and Interest	486
SUMMARY	490
QUESTIONS	491

PART SEVEN. POLITICAL ECONOMY

16 Welfare Economics: The Market and the State	497
16.1 Goals of Economic Policy	498
Efficiency versus Equity	498
Utilitarianism	500

Efficiency as the Sum of Consumer Surplus and Producer Surplus	500
Efficient Allocations in the Edgeworth Box	501
“Equity” Reconsidered	502
An Application: How to Divide a Cake	504
16.2 The Theorem of the Invisible Hand: The Role of Prices	506
Efficient Consumption	506
Efficient Production	506
Efficient Balance between Production and Consumption	507
16.3 “Market Failures”	508
Monopoly	508
Externalities	508
The Coase Theorem	513
16.4 The Commons: The Consequences of Unrestricted Access	515
16.5 Public Goods	518
Efficient Production and Consumption of Public Goods	518
Voluntary Provision of Nonexcludable Public Goods – Free-Riding	521
An Extension: Weakest-Link versus Best-Shot Models of Public Goods	525
16.6 Appropriative Activity and Rent-Seeking	529
SUMMARY	533
QUESTIONS	534
17 Government, Politics, and Conflict	537
17.1 The Other Side of the Coin: Government Failures	538
Corruption as Government Failure	538
Political Competition and Its Limits	539
Politics and Special Interests	541
17.2 Voting as an Instrument of Control	543
Majority and Minority – “Log-Rolling”	544
The Cycling Paradox	545
The Median-Voter Theorem	546
17.3 Conflict and Cooperation	550
Sources of Cooperation and Conflict	550
Conflict and Game Theory	557
An Application: Should You Pay Ransom?	561
SUMMARY	563
QUESTIONS	564
Answers to Selected Questions	567
Name Index	597
Subject Index	601
