Contents

General glossary 9

Editors' foreword 10

Introduction 12
Sjaak van der Velden
Lockouts 14 | Strike data 15 | Explanations 16 | Figures on strikes and lockouts per indicator and per country, 1960–2005 19

Strike statistics and the problems of international comparison 24
Dave Lyddon
Thresholds 26 | Main indicators 28 | Other technical considerations 33 | Comparison 35

A racially divided class  Strikes in South Africa, 1973–2004 40
Wessel Visser
Trade union development 41 | Industrial relations system 45 | A brief overview of strike and lockout legislation 47 | Notes on industrial dispute data collection 49 | A quantitative overview of strike activity 50 | A qualitative overview of strike activity 54 | Conclusion 57

A century of general strikes  Strikes in Argentina 61
Nicolás Iñigo Carrera

Public sector militancy, feminization, and employer aggression  Trends in strikes, lockouts, and wildcats in Canada from 1960 to 2004 86
Linda Briskin
Industrial relations system 87 | A profile of trade unions in Canada 90 | Strikes, lockouts, and wildcats, 1960–2004 92 | Emerging trends 97 | Conclusion 103
Strikes in a state corporatist system Mexico 114

Francisco Zapata Schaffeld

Industrial relations system 115 | Unions, labor confederations and the political system 117 | The development of strike activity in the twentieth century 121

Joseph A. McCartin

Industrial relations system 134 | Unions in the United States 137 | Economic and demographic changes and the US workforce 138 | Patterns in work stoppages, 1947–2004 140 | Explaining the decline of the strike 142 | Conclusion 148

Militant unionism in Korea 155

Byoung-Hoon Lee

History of industrial relations in Korea 155 | Institutional regulation of strike action 160 | Trends of strikes 163 | Conclusion: comparative implications 168

Strikes and lockouts in the Antipodes Neo-liberal convergence in Australia and New Zealand 173

Chris Briggs

From arbitration to neo-liberalism: industrial relations reform in Australia and New Zealand 173 | The Australian and New Zealand trade union movements 177 | Economic developments: crisis, restructuring and boom 179 | Dispute trends: strikes down, lockouts up! 180 | A qualitative overview on the development of strike activity 185 | Conclusion 190

From the seventies strike wave to the first cyber-strike in the twenty-first century Strike activity and labour unrest in Belgium 196

Kurt Vandaele

Belgian strike behaviour: an ambiguous case? 196 | Industrial relations system and collective bargaining 197 | The regulation of industrial conflict 198 | A split labour movement, union growth and weak articulation 199 | Some notes on strike statistics 201 | From a strike wave to many short and smaller strikes 202 | Shifts, trends and pivotal strikes 207 | Conclusion 216

The persistence of labour unrest Strikes in Denmark, 1969–2005 222

Petter Birke

Industrial relations in Denmark 223 | A quantitative perspective: the withering away of social peace 226 | Major events: mass strikes and wildcats, 1969–2005 228 | Conclusions 237
Strikes in France  Strong social eruptions and a weak tradition of collective bargaining  243

Stephen Bouquin

- The particularity of the French situation 243
- Strike statistics in France 248
- A qualitative analysis of changes in social conflict 254
- Conclusions 259

---

Industrial action in a low-strike country

Strikes in Germany 1968–2005  267

Heiner Driibusch

- The industrial relations framework 268
- The quantitative picture 271
- Why the low level of strikes? 277
- Shifts, trends and pivotal strikes 278
- Prospects 286

---

Strikes behind the dykes

Netherlands, 1965–2005  298

Sjaak van der Velden

- The institutional setting 300
- A statistical overview 300
- The postwar system of labour relations 302
- Workers bring the system to its knees, 1960–73 305
- Capital on the counterattack, 1973–79 307
- Labour strikes back, 1979–82 308
- The ‘polder model’, 1982–2004 310
- The beginning of a new millennium 313
- Forty years of labour relations: a review 314

---

From blue-collar wildcats in the 1970s to public sector resistance at the turn of a new millennium

Christer Thörnqvist

- Strikes and the industrial relations system 322
- The most important trade unions and their employers’ counterparts 324
- Strike statistics and a quantitative overview 325
- Important strikes and trends: a qualitative overview 328
- Concluding discussion 334

---

From strike wave to strike drought

The United Kingdom, 1968–2005  339

Dave Lyddon

- Labour market and economic developments 340
- Trade unions 342
- Industrial relations system and strike legislation 343
- Strike statistics and the effect of strike tactics and strike pay 345
- The collapse in strikes in the 1980s 350
- Strikes under ‘New Labour’ 356
- Conclusion 358

---

Comprehending divergence in strike activity

Employers’ offensives, government interventions and union responses  366

Heiner Driibusch and Kurt Vandaele

- Examining strike volumes 367
- Structural change: capitalist restructuring and transformation 369
- All workers on the defensive? 371
- Institutional setting and government intervention 373
- Sorting countries by union security 375
- Union and employer militancy 377
- Secular decline or a long wave of labour unrest? 378

---

Contributors  382