THEORY AND DATA

2 The Development of Face Perception 9
SUSAN CAREY

1 Introduction 9
2 Face perception in infancy 10
3 Face encoding — ages 2 to 10 16
4 Further developments during adolescence 24
5 Representation and recognition of familiar faces 27
6 Right hemisphere involvement in face encoding 32
7 Explanations of the course of development of face encoding 34

3 The Neuropsychology of Face Recognition 39
HENRY HÉCAEN

1 Historical introduction 39
2 Clinical description 41
3 Associated clinical findings 42
4 Lateralization and localization of lesions 43
5 Experimental neuropsychological studies 44
6 Neuropsychological considerations 46
7 Conclusions 51

4 Social Factors in Face Recognition 55
JOHN SHEPHERD

1 Introduction 55

2 Race effects in the recognition of faces 56
3 Sex of subject 65
4 Individual differences 70
5 Affective aspects of faces 74
6 Attractiveness and memory 76
7 Conclusions 78

5 Laboratory Studies of Face Recognition 81
ALVIN GOLDSTEIN AND JUNE CHANCE

1 Introduction 81
2 Transformations 82
3 Singularity effects 87
4 Context effects 91
5 Retention interval and related factors 93
6 Depth of processing 96
7 Other factors 100
8 Research in face recognition 103

6 Studies of Cue Saliency 105
JOHN SHEPHERD, GRAHAM DAVIES AND HADYN ELLIS

1 Introduction 105
2 Subjective reports and verbal descriptions 106
3 Experimental studies 109
4 Eye movements 121
5 Scaling studies 123
6 Conclusions 130

7 Perception of Emotion in Faces 133
ERIC SALZEN

1 Introduction 133
2 Recognition of emotional expressions 134
3 The development of expression and impression 147
4 An ethological view of expression/impression 152
5 Perception of emotional expressions 164

8 Theoretical Aspects of Face Recognition 171
HADYN ELLIS

1 Introduction 171
2 Face processing 175
3 Facial prototypes 180
4 Knowledge of individual faces 184
5 Organization of face memory 188
6 Conclusions 196

APPLICATIONS

9 Psycho-legal Aspects of Face Identification 201
KENNETH DEFFENBACHER AND JULIE HORNEY

1 Introduction 201
2 Facial identification with pretrial procedures 202
3 Facial identification and legal practice 215
4 Conclusions 225

10 Face Recall Systems 227
GRAHAM DAVIES

1 Introduction 227
2 Face recall systems 228
3 Laboratory studies 231
4 Psychological factors in system design 243
5 How good can face memory be? 248

11 Computer-guided Recognition and Retrieval of Facial Images 251
KENNETH LAUGHERY, BEN RHODES AND GEORGE BATTEN

1 Introduction 251
2 The computer as an aid in facial construction 252
3 Measurement of facial images 256
4 Pattern recognition systems 261
5 Summary and conclusions 267

12 Training in Face Recognition 271
ROY MALPASS

1 Introduction 271
2 Training in face recognition 278
3 New data on training for own-race recognition 282
4 Conclusions 284
