

Contents

Introduction: Terror, Media, Popular Culture, and Everyday Life in America	1
I Theoretical Concerns: Introduction
1. New Perspectives on Popular Culture and the Public Arts	15
2. Teaching Critical Media Analysis for Pleasure and Profit	33
II Advertising: Introduction
3. 1984: The Commercial	43
4. Manufacturing Desire	57
III Humor: Introduction
5. What's in a Joke? A Microanalysis	71
6. Eight Scholars in Search of an Interpretation	83
IV Comics: Introduction
7. Not Just Kid's Stuff	93
8. Of Mice and Men: An Introduction to Mouse-ology	111
9. The Funnies are Good for You!	121
V Television: Introduction
10. Three Media Events	133
11. Television as an Instrument of Terror II	153
VI Film: Introduction
12. The Terminator	165
13. Star Wars as Fairy Tale	175

VII Everyday Life: Introduction

- |                                |     |
|--------------------------------|-----|
| 14. Everyday Eating in America | 185 |
| 15. Space as a Sign System     | 197 |
| 16. What Teva Means            | 205 |

VIII Comparative Perspectives: Introduction

- |                                |     |
|--------------------------------|-----|
| 17. Texts in Contexts          | 217 |
| 18. Is Thailand Going Western? | 227 |
| Bibliography            | 235 |
| Name Index              | 249 |
| Subject Index           | 253 |