Contents

List of Figures and Maps ix

List of Tables x

Acknowledgements xiii

Abbreviations xv

Introduction 1

Part One Social and Demographic Fortunes

1 Alençon's Huguenots, 1620–85: The Social Transformations of a Reformed Community 9

2 The Huguenot Population of France, 1600–85 34

3 Faith, Fortune and Social Structure in Seventeenth-Century Montpellier 121

Part Two Religious Faith, Cultural Capital and Historical Consciousness

4 Protestant and Catholic Book Ownership in Seventeenth-Century Metz 153

5 Toward the Comparative Study of the Popular Market for Art: The Ownership of Paintings in Seventeenth-Century Metz 191

6 Two Calvinisms 208

7 Print and the Experience of Ritual: Huguenot Books of Preparation for the Lord's Supper 229

8 The Owl of Minerva at Dusk: Philippe Le Noir de Crevain, a Pastor–Historian under Louis XIV 248

Part Three Coexistence and Confessionalization

9 Un roi, une loi, deux fois: Parameters for the History of Catholic–Reformed Coexistence in France, 1555–1685 279

10 Confessionalization in France? Critical Reflections and New Evidence 309

Index 327

List of Figures and Maps

Figures

1.1 Reformed baptisms, marriages and burials, Alençon 1616–85 20
1.2 Total baptisms, Alençon, 1625–1700 21

2.1 Cumulative index: northern big cities 62
2.2 Cumulative index: northern small towns 65
2.3 Cumulative index: northern rural congregation 68
2.4 Big cities of the Midi and Centre–West 76
2.5 Cumulative index: small towns of the Midi 80
2.6 Cumulative index: rural churches of the Midi and Centre–West 92
2.7 Estimated total Protestant population of France and Béarn, 1600–85 by decade 93

Maps

2.1 Congregations and localities with reliable data about the long-term movement of the Protestant population 48
2.2 The pattern of decline of the Protestant population 67

List of Tables

1.1	Protestants in the corps de métier of Alençon, 1645–55	14
1.2	Protestant representation within the world of the law in Alençon, 1646	15
1.3	Occupations of fathers in Alençon's Protestant baptismal registers, 1620–29	16
1.4	Reproductive behaviour and fertility of Huguenot couples married in Alençon, 1635–61	25
1.5	Mean interval between births among Alençon's Protestants, two generations compared	26
1.6	Occupations of fathers in Alençon's Protestant baptismal registers, 1620–29 to 1670–79	28
1.7	Protestants within the Mercers' Guild in Alençon, 1647–73	29
1.8	Protestants in the Alençon assises mercuriales, 1646 and 1682	29
1.9	Descendants of Protestant royal officials and legal personnel in Alençon	31
1.10	Ancestors of Protestant merchants in Alençon	31
2.1	The Reformed population of France, c. 1660–70	42
2.2	Intervals between birth and baptism, selected Reformed churches	55
2.3	Recorded cases of burial of unbaptized infants in Alençon, 1626–85	57
2.4	Mean age at first marriage among Alençon's Protestants	58
2.5	Secular trends: the cities of northern France	61
2.6	Importance of the Huguenot minority within sample cities of known total population: northern France	63
2.7	The small towns of northern France	65
2.8	The rural congregations of northern France	66
2.9	Age at first marriage in Alençon	74
2.10	The cities of the Midi and Centre–West	77
2.11	Importance of the Huguenot minority within sample cities of known total population: Midi and Centre–West	79
2.12	The small towns of the Midi and Centre–West	81
2.13	The rural congregations of the Midi and Centre–West (Béarn excluded)	83
2.14	Average number of baptisms per decade in six churches of Béarn	90

2.15 Estimating France's total Protestant population, c. 1610, excluding Béarn 92
2.16 The seasonal movement of marriages 99
2.17 The appearance and evolution of the creux de Mai 106
2.18 The seasonal movement of conceptions 111
2.19 Illegitimacy rates: illegitimate births as percentage of all baptisms 114
2.20 Premarital conceptions: children born within seven months of their parents' marriage as percentage of all first births 115

3.1 Information contained in Montpellier marriage contracts 132
3.2 Mean augmentation and estimated dowry of selected occupational categories in Montpellier 134
3.3 The social composition of Montpellier's population, 1605–9 to 1665–69 135
3.4 The social composition of the Protestant and Catholic fractions of Montpellier's population, 1605–9 136
3.5 Mean augmentation and estimated dowry for members of each religion by selected occupational categories in Montpellier, 1605–9 137
3.6 Mean augmentation and estimated dowries for Protestants and Catholics in Montpellier, 1605–9 to 1665–69 139
3.7 Percentage of immigrants by sex and religion within Montpellier's marriage contracts, 1605–9 to 1665–69 141
3.8 Mean augmentation and estimated dowries provided by Montpellier-born residents, 1635–39 to 1665–69 142
3.9 Occupational breakdown of grooms of known occupation in Montpellier, 1605–9 to 1665–69 143
3.10 Occupational choices of children with fathers in selected occupational categories in Montpellier, by religion and time period 147

4.1 Sociological distribution of Metz inventory sample by religion 162
4.2 Rates of book ownership by occupational category in seventeenth-century Metz 164
4.3 Mean size of libraries among those owning books in seventeenth-century Metz 164
4.4 The most widely diffused Protestant authors and books in seventeenth-century Metz 167
4.5 Best-selling Protestant authors in the sales records of the Grenoble bookseller Jean Nicolas, 1645–68 168

4.6 The most popular secular or non-Protestant authors and books in seventeenth-century Metz 179

5.1 Painting ownership of selected occupational categories by religion in seventeenth-century Metz 198

5.2 Types of paintings owned by religion in seventeenth-century Metz 199

5.3 The most popular painting subjects in seventeenth-century Metz 201

5.4 Types of paintings owned by members of selected occupational groups in seventeenth-century Metz 203

7.1 The contents of some editions of Le Voyage de Beth-el 233