

Contents

Introduction	vi
Acknowledgements	ix

---

Section A The history and theory of the self concept

1 The self concept in psychological theory	2
2 The phenomenological approach to the self concept	30
3 The self concept as an organisation of self attitudes	50

---

Section B Measurement of the self concept

4 Methodological problems	72
5 A survey of specific instruments	95

---

Section C Developmental issues

6 Sources and content of the self concept and adolescence	148
7 Sex roles, identification and child-rearing practices	185

---

Section D The self concept in everyday life

8 The self concept and behaviour	218
9 The self concept in the context of education	274

---

Epilogue	311
References	313
Name index	334
Subject index	340