

CONTENTS

Part I Foundations of Adjustment

CHAPTER 1 Introduction	3
THREE VIEWS OF ADJUSTMENT	9
The moral view of adjustment	9
The phenomenological view of adjustment	12
The social-learning view of adjustment	14
THE BIOLOGICAL BASIS OF ADJUSTMENT	17
Heredity and evolution	18
The mechanism of heredity	19
Biological differences	21
Heredity and intelligence	23
Environmental factors in intellectual development	25
Heredity and personal characteristics	28
Heredity and deviant behavior	31
Limits to our present knowledge	33
Other constitutional problems in adjustment	34
SUMMARY	37
CHAPTER 2 Learning and the social foundations of adjustment	41
THE PROCESS OF LEARNING	47
Learning by association	49
Learning by reinforcement	51
Learning by modeling	55
SOME DETAILS OF THE LEARNING PROCESS	61
Drive	61
Stimulus	62

Response	65
Reinforcement	68
SUMMARY	71
CHAPTER 3 Socialization	75
The process of socialization	81
Psychoanalytic views of socialization	82
Is socialization necessary?	84
SECONDARY DRIVES AND MOTIVES	85
The acquisition of secondary drives	86
The number and nature of motives	90
Inferring acquired drives	93
Canalization	95
THE AREAS OF SOCIALIZATION	96
Feeding	96
Toilet training	100
Sex training	102
Aggression training	105
Independence training	107
ROLES	109
Sex typing	109
Age grading	112
TEMPERAMENT	113
SUMMARY	114

Part II Foundations of Maladjustment: Anxiety and Defenses

CHAPTER 4 Anxiety	119
Components of anxiety	124
The experience of anxiety	127
A BEHAVIORAL ANALYSIS OF ANXIETY	130
The physiology of anxiety	130
The learning of anxiety	134
Trait and state anxiety	144
FREUDIAN VIEWS OF ANXIETY	145
EXISTENTIAL VIEWS OF ANXIETY	150
SUMMARY	152

CHAPTER 5	The process of adjustment	155
WHAT IS ADJUSTMENT?		158
Factors determining adjustment		160
Adjustment as a process		163
EVALUATING HUMAN ADJUSTMENT		168
PERSONALITY AND ADJUSTMENT		172
FRUSTRATION		174
Learned responses to frustration		177
CONFLICT		183
Approach-approach conflict		184
Avoidance-avoidance conflict		185
Approach-avoidance conflict		185
SUMMARY		189
CHAPTER 6	The management of anxiety: the adjustment mechanisms	193
REPRESSION		197
Displacement		202
Unconscious behavior		204
What is repressed?		205
The research evidence for repression		206
THE MECHANISMS OF DISGUISE		209
Rationalization		211
Projection		212
Reaction formation		214
Some comments on the repressive defenses		215
Compensations and substitutions		215
Fantasy		219
Withdrawal		220
THE DEFENSE MECHANISMS AND ADJUSTMENT		223
THE SELF-CONCEPT		226
THE DIRECT CONTROL OF ANXIETY		227
SUMMARY		229

Part III Problems of Adjustment

CHAPTER 7	Failures of adjustment	235
NORMALITY AND DEVIANCE		238
Definitions		238

Reactions to deviant behavior	240
Explanations of deviance	242
The medical model	246
Arguments against the medical model	246
Alternatives to the medical model	249
THE NEUROSES	250
Anxiety neurosis	250
Psychosomatic disorders	252
Hysteria	254
Obsessive-compulsive neurosis	255
Phobic disorders	257
THE CHARACTER DISORDERS	257
The addictions	259
THE PSYCHOSES	263
Schizophrenia	265
The affective psychoses	268
SUMMARY	269
CHAPTER 8 Human sexuality	273
THE ANATOMY AND PHYSIOLOGY OF SEX	277
The work of Masters and Johnson	277
Male anatomy and physiology	277
Female anatomy and physiology	280
The human sexual response cycle	283
PATTERNS OF SEXUAL BEHAVIOR	287
The Kinsey studies	288
Is there a sexual revolution?	292
THE LEARNING OF SEXUAL BEHAVIOR	293
Hormonal influences on human sexuality	297
The learning of sexual identity	298
The content of gender role	302
SEXUAL DYSFUNCTION	304
Sexual inadequacy	305
Fetishism	307
SUMMARY	309
CHAPTER 9 Adult adjustment	313
LOVE AND MARRIAGE	316
The dating game	316
Mate selection	318
Courtship	320

Marriage	321
Birth control	326
Children	329
WORK AND CAREER	330
Career choice	331
Vocational satisfaction	335
Women and work	341
Retirement	342
SUMMARY	348

Part IV Assessing and Improving Adjustment

CHAPTER 10 Assessing psychological adjustment	353
ABILITIES AND SKILLS	356
Intelligence tests	359
PERSONALITY AND CLINICAL DIAGNOSIS	361
Personality and adjustment inventories	362
Projective techniques	367
Vocational interest tests	374
SOME ACTUAL ASSESSMENT CASES	377
SUMMARY	379
CHAPTER 11 Alleviating adjustment problems	381
DYNAMIC PSYCHOTHERAPY	388
Patient, therapist, and setting	388
The therapeutic relationship	390
THE PROCESS OF PSYCHOTHERAPY	392
The role of language and thinking	392
Anxiety	393
Unconscious processes	394
The course of psychotherapy	396
Formal psychoanalysis	397
Nondirective psychotherapy	399
THE BEHAVIORAL THERAPIES	400
Patient, therapist, and setting	401
Approaching problems behaviorally	402
Assessment and planning	403
Procedures for behavior change	405
Wider applications	409
Ethical questions	412

THE COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH MOVEMENT	416
SUMMARY	417
CHAPTER 12 Enhancing human adjustment	421
SELF-DIRECTED BEHAVIOR CHANGE	424
Social traps	428
Self-awareness	437
ALTERED STATES OF CONSCIOUSNESS	439
GROUP AND ENCOUNTER EXPERIENCES	441
Theoretical viewpoints	446
Effects of group experience	450
Organizational development	453
SUMMARY	454
References	459
Glossary	469
Index	486