

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction	9
------------------------	---

CHAPTER ONE: POLEMICS

I. Polemics and Art in Dostoevskij and Camus	13
II. General Polemics against Černyševskij's "Anthropological Principle in Philosophy"	17
III. Dostoevskij's Polemics with Černyševskij's "Anthropological Principle in Philosophy"	19
IV. Dostoevskij's Polemics with Černyševskij's Čto delat'	24
V. Further Elements of Parody	29
VI. Camus' The Fall	31
VII. Camus' Parody of Sartre's Arguments in his "Réponse à Albert Camus"	36
The Two Polemics	42

CHAPTER TWO: IDEOLOGY

I. State of Consciousness	45
II. Dostoevskij's Way to Notes From Underground	48
III. Camus' Way to The Fall	57
IV. The Isolation of the Underground Man and Jean-Baptiste Clamence	62
V. Freedom, Choice, Responsibility and Judgement	69

CHAPTER THREE: STRUCTURE

I. Genre and Thematic Structure	81
II. The Structuring of Isolation	87
III. The Thematic Development of Freedom, Choice, and Slavery	91

IV. The Thematic Development of Judgement	96
V. The Turning Points	104

CHAPTER FOUR: TEXTURE

I. Tone and Texture	109
II. Setting and Imagery in Notes From Underground and The Fall	114
III. The Texture of Leitmotifs in Notes From Underground	123
IV. The Texture of Leitmotifs in The Fall	133
Conclusion	141
Bibliography	145