

CONTENTS

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Acknowledgments   | 7          |
| Foreword by Irving L. Janis   | 9          |
| 1. Introduction: The Psychology of Control                              | 13         |
| PART I: PERCEPTIONS AND ILLUSIONS OF CONTROL                     | 23  |
| ✓ 2. The Psychology of Chance   | 29         |
| 3. A Patient by Any Other Name  | 47         |
| ✓ 4. The Illusion of Control  | 59         |
| 5. Heads I Win, Tails It's Chance . . .                                 | 91         |
| 6. Self-Induced Dependence  | 101        |
| 7. Nothing Succeeds Like Success, Except . . .                          | 117        |
| PART II: CONTROL IN EVERYDAY SITUATIONS                          | 135 |
| 8. The Semantics of Asking a Favor                                      | 139        |
| 9. Staring and Approach   | 151        |
| 10. Crowding and Cognitive Control                                      | 163        |
| 11. Burglary (Non)prevention  | 175        |
| 12. Postdivorce Adaptation  | 185        |
| 13. Reduction of Psychological Stressin Surgical Patients           | 195        |
| PART III: CHRONIC LOSS OF CONTROL ANDREMEDIAL TREATMENTS    | 207 |
| 14. Aging Labels: The Decline of Controland the Fall of Self-Esteem | 211        |
| 15. The Effects of Enhanced PersonalResponsibility for the Aged     | 227        |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| 16. Long-Term Effects of a Control-Relevant Intervention                                     | 241 |
| 17. Environmental Determinants of Memory Improvementin Late Adulthood                   | 251 |
| 18. Long-Term Effects of a Memory Improvement Strategyin Late Adulthood: A Brief Report | 269 |
| 19. Induced Disability in Nursing Home Patients  | 271 |
| 20. The Psychosocial Environment of the Elderly:Some Behavioral and Health Implications | 279 |
| Afterword  | 293 |
| References   | 295 |
| About the Author   | 311 |