Contents

Preface ix

I FREEDOM, RESPONSIBILITY, AND RELATED CONCEPTS

1 Free Will in Psychology and Human Affairs 3

Preliminary Definitions 4
Free Will and Adjustment 6
Free Will in Psychology 7
Situationalism in the Psychology of Adjustment 11
Freedom and Social Development 12
Summary 14

2 Responsibility and Freedom in Folk Psychology 17

An Implicit Theory of Responsibility 17
The ITR as a Policy for Social Sanctions 20
Determinants of Free Will 22
Summary 27

II THE GIVEN AND THE POSSIBLE IN GOVERNMENT OF ACTION

3 Freedom from Stimulus Control 31

Segmental Acts and Integrated Action 31
Intention and Purpose 33
Proactive Serial Organization and Will 34
Responsibility as Proactive Proficiency 38
The Capacity for Freedom 40
Differentiation 42
Words and Possibilities 45
Proactive Information Processing 48
Summary 49

4 Efficacy and Freedom of Choice 51

Hunger and Self-Actualization 52
The Relation of Drive to Freedom of Choice 57
Subjectivity and Objectivity in Behavior 60
Acquired Drives and Freedom of Choice 62
Removal of Emotional Reactions 66
Anxiety as Helplessness 67
The Efficacy Construct 69
Summary 71

5 Imagination and Venturing 73

Fantasies of Proactivity 75
Proactive Minds 78
Thinking under Threat 80
Expectancy and Efficacy 84
Determinants of Prospective Thought 86
Knowledge of Purposive Tales 88
Training in Purposive Behavior 89
Summary 92

III INDIVIDUAL AUTONOMY IN A SOCIAL CONTEXT

6 Obedience 97

Appearances as Criteria for Action 97
The Compliant Disposition 99
Social Influences on Freedom of Choice 101
Reinforcement of Obedience and Commands 103
Inhibitory Effects of Punishment 106
Punishment, Anxiety, and Aggression 108
A Culture of Mistrust 109
Self-Discipline and Objectivity 112
Summary 113

2 The Shaping of Self-Discipline 115

Field Studies of Independence Training Methods 116
Analytical Studies of Control over the Environment 119
Reinforcement and Social Learning 123
Self-Disciplined Learning 125
Self-Reinforcement and Behavioral Flexibility 127
Self-Discipline and Morality 130
Summary 132

8 Motivational (and Moral) Constancy 135

The Relationship of Moral Judgments to Attitudes 135
Recognition of Attitudes 136
The Conditions of Dispositional Stability 138
Cognitive Consistency and New Information 140
Consistency and Discrimination 142
Anxiety and the Acceptance of New Information 144
Efficacy, Attitudinal Control, and Freedom 146
Conceptual Systems and Attitudinal Stability 148
Conceptual Systems as Products of Social Influence 152
Attitudinally Mediated Behavior and the Superego 156
Summary 158

IV THE SHARING OF FREEDOM

9 The Creation of Social Cooperation 163

Trust as a Feature of Efficacy 164
Planful Behavior and the "Fitting" Response 167
Amenability to Influence 167
Power to Punish 170
Freedom, Independence, and Social Cohesion 173
The Freedom Charter 174
Summary 176

10 Cultural Determinants of Freedom and Social Adjustment 177

Self-Esteem and Social Adjustment 177
Determinants and Correlates of Social Esteem 179
Reactive and Proactive Economies 180
Fluidity in Social Systems 183
Information Flow in Social Systems 185
A Sociological Experiment 188
The Interactional Character of Fluid Societies 192
Summary 195

11 Responsibility, Freedom, and Morality 197

Self-Serving Actions and Morality 197
A Study of Moral Understanding 198
Six Stages of Superego 199
Superego Intelligence and Superego Action 205
Moral Thinking and Free Will 207
Summary 209

12 Limits to Freedom of Will 211

Morality and Freedom 211
Maintenance of the Conditions of Freedom 212
Alienation as Cause and Consequence of Irresponsibility 216
Can People Solve Problems? 219
The Free Mind 222
Mind over Matter 224
The Good Life 226
Summary 227

References 229
Name Index 243
Subject Index 249