

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Preface	viii
1 Introduction	1
The historiography of childhood	3
2 Children and childhood in ancient and medieval Europe	18
The classical inheritance	18
Christianity	25
The middle ages	26
3 The development of a middle-class ideology of childhood, 1500–1900	41
Humanism	42
Protestantism	45
Catholicism	54
The eighteenth century	58
The influence of Romanticism	69
4 Family, work and school, 1500–1900	81
The peasant family	83
Proto-industrialisation	86
Industrialisation	88
Demography	90
Community	97
Schooling	99
Interest and emotion	103
5 Children, philanthropy and the state in Europe, 1500–1860	114
Children and poverty	114

Schooling 119
1750–1860 122

6	Saving the children, c.1830–c.1920	137
	Child labour 140
	Street children 146
	Cruelty to children 152
	Philanthropy, the state and children 154
	State concerns and children's rights 161
7	'The century of the child?'	171
	Science, experts and childhood 172
	Children and social policy 178
	Parents and children 183
	Childhood under threat 186
8	Conclusion	201
	Guide to further reading	207
	Index	227

Plates

[In central plate section]

- 1 Child Holding An Apple by Caesar van Everingden
- 2 The Age of Innocence by Joshua Reynolds
- 3 The Child Enthroned, c.1894, by Thomas Cooper Gotch
- 4 Illustration from 'The Royal Commission on the Condition and Treatment of Children Employed in the Mines of the United Kingdom' (1842)
- 5 Interdepartmental Committee on Physical Deterioration, British Parliamentary Papers, 1904, Vol. XXXII
- 6 From The Twentieth-Century Child by Edward H. Cooper, 1905 (frontispiece)