

CONTENTS

1. PERSONAL CONSTRUCT PSYCHOLOGY AS PERSONALITY THEORY: INTRODUCTION	1
James C. Mancuso and Jack R. Adams-Webber
Five Issues for Personality Theory	2
Metaphysical Assumptions as Theoretical Constraints	3
Personal Construct Theory	4
2. ANTICIPATION AS A CONSTRUCTIVE PROCESS: THE FUNDAMENTAL POSTULATE	8
James C. Mancuso and Jack R. Adams-Webber
Radical Behaviorism as a Model	9
A Functional Approach	10
Anticipation as a Psychological Construct	11
Schemata as Anticipations	14
Anticipation, Surprise, and Motivation	23
Arousal and Standard Building	25
Some Related Considerations	28
Conclusion	31
3. CONSTRUCTION OF EXPERIENCE: THE CONSTRUCTION COROLLARY	33
Lars Nystedt and David Magnusson
Constructivism	34
Personal Construct Theory: The Construction Corollary	35
Constructivism in Cognition	37
Personality	41
Summary	43

4.	BACK TO BASICS IN PERSONALITY STUDY – THE INDIVIDUAL PERSON’S OWN ORGANIZATION OF EXPERIENCE: THE INDIVIDUALITY COROLLARY	45
	Michael A. Gara
	Recapitulation and Foreword	46
	A Theory in Search of Its Zeitgeist	47
	Some Points to Consider in Studying Own Organization	48
	The Individuality Corollary and the Study of Prototypes	57
	The Individuality Corollary in Memory Research	60
	Summary	60
5.	THE ORGANIZATION OF CONSTRUCT SYSTEMS: THE ORGANIZATION COROLLARY	62
	Walter H. Crockett
	Basic Concepts	63
	Research into the Organization of Constructs	69
	Relationships among Constructs	77
	What Next?	89
6.	ASSIMILATION AND CONTRAST IN PERSONAL JUDGMENT: THE DICHOTOMY COROLLARY	96
	Jack R. Adams-Webber
	Information and Uncertainty	97
	The Golden Section Hypothesis	98
	Figure versus Ground	99
	Marking and Negativity	101
	Nominal and Contrast Poles	105
	Self versus Others	109
	Summary	112
7.	THE FLOW OF CHOICE: THE CHOICE COROLLARY	113
	Philip J. Boxer
	Does He Know It Is His System?	115
	Levels of Structure	120
	Intentionality as Self-Determination	122
	Circumspection, Preemption, and Control	125
	So What Is the Big Problem about Choosing?	127
	Conclusion	129

8. FITTING THINGS INTO SORTS: THE RANGE COROLLARY	130
James C. Mancuso and Bruce N. Eimer
Some Historical Background, Directions, and Definitions	130
Categories as Convenient Allocations	135
Some Additional Considerations: The Choice Corollary, the Range Corollary, and Diagnostic Validity	144
Construct Differentiation and Rating Extremity	146
Conclusion	150
9. VARIATIONS IN DEVELOPING CONSTRUCT SYSTEMS: THE EXPERIENCE COROLLARY	152
James K. Morrison and Michael C. Cometa
Qualitative Changes in Construing	154
Yielding Preoperational Thought	154
Planned Construct System Change	163
Imagery Techniques in Planned Reconstruction	164
Summary	169
10. EXPERIENCE – A CASE FOR POSSIBLE CHANGE: THE MODULATION COROLLARY	170
Brian C. Hayden
Kelly's View on Change	171
Construction System Change	172
Operationalizing the Parameters of Change	175
Constructing and Reconstructing: The Child	181
Constructing and Reconstructing: The Adult	191
Conclusion	196
11. A CONSTRUCTION OF FRAGMENTATION AND UNITY: THE FRAGMENTATION COROLLARY	198
A. W. Landfield
A Personal Construct Perspective	199
Constructive Alternativism	200
Organization and the Personal Construct	201
Organization and Choice	202
Choice, Threat, and a Psychology of Values	204
Constructs and Value Coding	205
Choice, Threat, Guilt, and Psychotherapy	206
System Hierarchy and Professional Fragmentation	208
Resolving Fragmentation	211

Integrating Some Bits and Pieces	219
A Prototype for Effective Personal Organization	220
12. TWO INDIVIDUALS IN SEARCH OF AGREEMENT: THE COMMONALITY COROLLARY	222
Steve Duck
What Kelly Says Commonality Is	222
Commonality of What Sort?	225
Commonality at What Level?	226
Commonality at What Point?	229
Commonality in What Degree?	231
13. SOCIALITY, INTERSUBJECTIVITY, AND SOCIAL PROCESSES: THE SOCIALITY COROLLARY	235
Finn Tschudi and Ragnar Rommetveit
The Normative Aspect of the Corollary	236
Constructive Alternativism:
A Pluralistic Approach to Human Communication	238
Construing Construction Processes and Conditions for Intersubjectivity	243
On Attaining Shared Social Reality: A Clinical Example	249
Honoring and Violating Intersubjectivity	252
Types of Social Interchanges	258
REFERENCES	262
INDEX	299
ABOUT THE CONTRIBUTORS	310