

Table of Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	1
Modern Autobiography: The Experience of an Artifact	1
Poetics of Mind: The Structure of Our Cognition	21
Poetics of Autobiography: Goals and Techniques	41
Jean-Paul Sartre: The Words.....	63
Fine Words.....	63
In Other Words, Who Is Griselda?	69
Being Griselda: A Matter of Blending Mental Spaces.....	77
More Than an Analogy: Further Insight into the Blend	86
Making New Out of Old: New Griselda	94
Heroic Dreams, Fantasy Adventures	105
Multiple Blends As Conceptual Stages in the Construction of Autobiography.....	114
Georges Perec: W or the Memory of Childhood.....	129
A Writing Experience: Fragmented Narratives	129
A Life/Death Experience: a Lacerated Nation	137
Time Is More Than a Thief. Time Is an Executioner	143
“I Have No Childhood Memories.” Loss, Absence and Separation	150
Going Up and Down or from Utopia to Distopia. Athletic Mental Processes	157
Fleeting Memories. Final Ascent to the Top of W	169
W, “the Memory of Their Death and the Assertion of My Life”	177

Nathalie Sarraute: Childhood.....	191
Tropisms and the Pursuit of a New Reality.....	191
Slashing into Smooth Surfaces. Prohibition and Transgression	199
Non-Perceptual Field and the Paradisiacal Association with the Mother	207
Decentering, Imbalance, and Culpability. The Mother as a Perceptual Periphery.....	219
Quest for Recentering. The Father as a Potential Center	226
Vera's Instability. Perceptual Dissociation and Constant Practice for Autonomy	236
Centered Selfhood. Balance and Autonomy.....	242
 Conclusion	 255
 Bibliography.....	 259