Table of contents

Acknowledgements VII
Abbreviations IX

CHAPTER 1
Introduction 1
1.1 Premises and aims 1
1.2 Text and context in medieval drama 5
1.2.1 The text: N.Town plays 9
1.3 Outline of the study 14

CHAPTER 2
Address between characters 19
2.1 General remarks 19
2.2 Parameter: Distance vs. Intimacy 22
2.3 Parameter: Power vs. Solidarity 27
2.4 The addressing of 'special entities' 30
2.5 Variables in address: Age, sex, class 35
2.6 Pronoun switching 43
2.7 Conclusions on pronouns and terms of address 48

CHAPTER 3
Modality 51
3.1 Relevance of modality markers 51
3.2 Types of modality markers sampled 53
3.3 Modal verbs 56
3.4 Other modal forms 70
3.4.1 Nominal, verbal and attributive/predicative constructions with modal value 71
3.4.2 Modal adverbs and other pragmatic markers 77
3.4.3 Interjections 81
3.5 Conclusions on modality and its reflex on the expression of illocution 87

CHAPTER 4
Performatives and verba dicendi 91
4.1 The classification of 'verbal action' verbs in historical linguistics 91
4.2 Verbs of action in the N.Town plays 96
4.3 Metalinguistic verbs and verba dicendi 110
4.4 Speech acts and interaction 'steering' 117

CHAPTER 5
Pair structures 119
5.1 Pairs and beyond 119
5.2 Echoic structures and repetition 124
5.3 Imperatives 129
5.4 Questions 137
5.5 Formulae 144
5.6 'Peace and love' vs. 'struggle and strife' 153
5.7 Conclusions 160

CHAPTER 6
Addressing and directing the audience 163
6.1 The 'real recipients' 163
6.2 Forms of audience addressing 167
6.3 The modality of interaction with the audience 176
6.4 Acts of speech and audience 'steering' 179
6.5 Language mixture in cycle plays 183

CHAPTER 7
Conclusions 193

References 201
Index 221
Index of Names 225