

Contents

	Page
Acknowledgments	v
Abbreviations	ix
Note on administrative terms	xi
Introduction	xiii
I Seedbed of Revolution: The Ruhr to 1912
Chapter 1 Social and economic background	3
Chapter 2 Working-class politics	19
II The War and the Ripening Revolutionary Situation
Chapter 3 Social conditions	33
Chapter 4 The parties of the left	48
III Revolutionary Upsurge, November 1918- January 1919
Chapter 5 Limited revolution: the eastern Ruhr	71
Chapter 6 Radical revolution: in and around Düsseldorf	86
Chapter 7 Revolution from below: Hamborn and the western Ruhr	100
IV The Struggle for Socialisation
Chapter 8 The Essen model	117
Chapter 9 General strike and civil war	132
Chapter 10 Disillusionment and defeat	144
Conclusions	159
Notes	165
Bibliography	193
Index	201

Tables

1. Fatalities per thousand miners	8
2. Decline in welfare payments 1875–1902	9
3. Percentage of multi-storied dwellings in 1910	16

Plates

	Facing page
I Miners' houses at Ickern	44
II Miners' houses at Dortmund-North	44
III Miners' houses at Hamborn	45
IV Miners' houses at Hamborn	45
V A 'Kolonie', Bergmannsglück, Hassel	76
VI Poster proclaiming the revolution in Dorsten	77
VII Gutehoffnungshütte in Oberhausen	108
VIII 'Hammer Fritz', Krupps, Essen	108
IX Shamrock mine, Herne, 1916	109
X Workers' meeting, Hamborn Altmarkt [? 1918]	109
XI Workers' meeting, Hamborn Altmarkt [? 1918]	140
XII Food queue in Düsseldorf, 1917	141

Illustrations by courtesy of the Stadtarchiv Dorsten, Essen and Düsseldorf