

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Contributors	xi
CHAPTER 1
An Introduction to Investigating Phenomenal Consciousness Max Velmans	1
Part 1A: Combining First- and Third-Person Methods
CHAPTER 2
Current Methods of Investigation in Neuroscience Peter Fenwick	19
CHAPTER 3
The Experimental Investigation of Unconscious Conflict, Unconscious Affect, and Unconscious Signal Anxiety Howard Shevrin	33
CHAPTER 4
A Psychoanalytic Contribution to Contemporary Neuroscience Mark Solms	67
Part 1B: Re-examining the Scope and Limits of First-Person Methods
CHAPTER 5
Phenomenological Approaches to the Study of Conscious Awareness Richard Stevens	99
CHAPTER 6
The Gesture of Awareness: An Account of its Structural Dynamics Natalie Depraz, Francisco Varela and Pierre Vermersch	121

Part 1C: Changing Conscious Experience

CHAPTER 7

Transforming Conscious Experience 139

Jane Henry

CHAPTER 8

Clinical implications of an intersubjective science 167

Janet Richardson

CHAPTER 9

The Nature and Transformation of Consciousness in Eastern and Western Psychospiritual Traditions 193

David Fontana

Part 2: Maps of Consciousness Studies

CHAPTER 10

Modern Science and the Mind 215

Alwyn Scott

CHAPTER 11

Social Construction and Consciousness 233

Rom Harré

CHAPTER 12

Investigating Altered States of Consciousness on Their Own Terms:
State-Specific Sciences 255

Charles Tart

CHAPTER 13

Methods are a Message 279

John Pickering

CHAPTER 14

An integral approach to consciousness research: a proposal for integrating first, second, and third person approaches to consciousness 301

Ken Wilber and Roger Walsh

CHAPTER 15
A Psychologist's Map of Consciousness Studies	333
Max Velmans
Name Index	359
Subject Index	367