

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Acknowledgements.....	v
Chapter 1 Introduction .....	1
Literature, Tragedy and the World .....	10
Literature, Tragedy and the Writer.....	21
Literature, Tragedy and the Critic .....	34
Conclusion.....	50
Chapter 2 Tragic Indigestion in Fatou Diome's Le Ventre de l'Atlantique .....	58
Latent Violence and Migration.....	61
The Migrant Wretched of the Earth.....	79
The Misadventures of the Migrant Intellectual .....	92
Conclusion .....	113
Chapter 3 Tragic Empathy in Alain Mabanckou's Bleu Blanc Rouge .....	115
The Scintillating Colors of Migration .....	119
Migration, History and Narrative .....	130
An African by Any Other Name? Identity, History and Agency .....	140
Like Father, Unlike Son? Satire in Bleu Blanc Rouge .....	150
Conclusion .....	160
Chapter 4 Tragic Humor in Bessora's 53 cm .....	163
Absurdity ad infinitum : Anthropology and Immigration .....	168
Immigration and the Politics of (M)Othering.....	189
Racism, Ethics and Aesthetics.....	203
Conclusion.....	217
Chapter 5 Tragic Immaturity in Nathalie Etoké's Un amour sans papiers .....	219
Culture and the Politics of Affection.....	225
A Second-Hand Emotion? Love in the Time of Migration.....	247
Let's Get Physical: Body Politics and the Republic.....	257
Conclusion .....	268
Chapter 6 Conclusion.....	270
Bibliography .....	280