

List of Contents

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

PART I:

IMAGES AND THE VIETNAM WAR

Chapter 1:

Looking at the Vietnam War

1. Initial Considerations	15
2. Trauma Narratives?	17
3. Images.....	20
4. Images in the Texts.....	26

Chapter 2:

Media Images and the Vietnam War

1. Formal Parameters.....	29
1.1 (Con)-testing Vietnam War Literature(s).....	29
1.2 Classemes	33
1.2.1 Idioms	34
1.2.2 Intertexts.....	39
1.2.3 Subtexts.....	45
2. War, Media, and Representations of War	48
2.1 A Note on the Vietnam War.....	48
2.2 Literature & Criticism – “Is it a Path of Canonical Conservatism?”	52
2.3 “A War of Pictures” – Techniques of Perception and Mediation.....	59
3. The Input! The Input! – An “Overload” of Images.....	67
3.1 Types of Images	67
3.2 “Bodies. Bodies. Bodies.”	75
3.3 Spectacle or Not – War Images as Daily “Banalities?”	80

PART II:

FICTIONALIZING TRAUMA – SCENIC IMAGES & IMAGE STILLS

Chapter 3:

Trauma and Literature

1. Trauma Theories.....	87
1.1 Introduction: Reading the Wound with the Help of Literature?.....	87
1.2 The Real.....	92
1.3 Repetition	96
2. Narrating Trauma in Images	103

Chapter 4:

Trauma ‘Mirrors’ – Tim O’Brien’s In the Lake of the Woods

1. Introduction.....	105
1.1 Tim O’Brien.....	105
1.2 In the Lake of the Woods	106
2. Form.....	108
2.1 Chapters.....	108
2.2 My Lai, and Writing Stories.....	111
2.3 Evidence Chapters.....	114
3. “Intertextuality as an Act of Memory”.....	118
3.1 Mirroring John Wade.....	118
3.2 Thuan Yen.....	123
4. Dissolutions.....	131

Chapter 5:

Star-shaped Holes – Tim O’Brien’s The Things They Carried

1. Introduction.....	135
2. Image Stills.....	140
2.1 Initial Remarks.....	140
2.2 Ted Lavender.....	142
2.3 Curt Lemon.....	145
2.4 The Unnamed Vietnamese.....	149
2.5 “A Body Without a Name”.....	153
3. Writing a Story about Trauma and Recovery.....	157

Chapter 6:

Love, War, and Trauma – Bao Ninh’s The Sorrow of War

1. Introduction.....	161
2. Narrating Trauma in Images.....	166
2.1 Plot and Structure in The Sorrow of War	166
2.2 Kien.....	167
2.3 The Trauma of Rape in War.....	171
2.4 Women and War.....	178
2.4.1 A Policewoman and Hoa.....	178
2.4.2 “The Naked Girl”.....	181
3. Listening to, and Writing about, Trauma.....	184

PART III:

FICTIONALIZING TRAUMA – AN ‘IMAGE’ OF TRAUMA

Chapter 7:

Trauma as a Commonplace – Stewart O’Nan’s The Names of the Dead

1. Introduction: O’Nan and the Reviewers.....	193
2. Parody or Pastiche?	196
3. A Catalogue of Commonplaces.....	200
3.1 Ithaca–LZ. Odin–Ithaca: Plot and Structure in The Names of the Dead	200
3.2 Talking Cure(s) I: Soldier Talk with Father, and Wife	201
3.3 Talking Cure(s) II: Rap Groups, or Re-Writing the Bond of Brothers	204
3.4 Fictionalizing Post-Traumatic Stress.....	206
3.5 Recovery.....	209
3.5.1 Escorting the Dead: Photographic Images	209
3.5.2 Escorting the Dead: The Wall.....	212

Chapter 8:

Trauma as (Empathic) Simulation? – Bobbie Ann Mason’s In Country

1. History, Trauma, Images and Minimalist Fiction	219
1.1 In Country and Its Critics.....	219
1.2 Lost and Found: Depth or Surface?.....	224
2. “Media Imagery” – Consuming the Vietnam War on/through the TV Screen?	228
2.1 Form.....	228
2.2 Accessing (Tele-Visual) ‘Reality’	231
2.2.1 Agent Orange and Birth Defects	231
2.2.2 M*A*S*H	236
2.2.3 Photographic Images, ‘Soldier Talk,’ Letters, and Diaries.....	240
2.2.4 (War) Life is Like “A Rock-Video-Sequence” – Being In Country in the U.S.	245
3. (Not)-Crossing Borders: Sam.....	249
3.1 Being On the Road	249
3.2 Names. Names. Names – “A Pattern of Recognition”.....	253
4. Exit In Country	256

PART IV:

CODA – TRAUMA IMAGES

Chapter 9:

The War in Vietnam – The Twenty-first Century

1. Vietnam. Vietnam. Vietnam.....261

2. Final Considerations: Vietnam (Trauma) as a Commodity?266

BIBLIOGRAPHY.....269