

CONTENTS

Foreword	ix
Stanley Aronowitz
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction	1
Sheila L. Macrine
Part 1 Uncertain Times: Exploring the Costs of Neoliberalism
1. The Attack on Higher Education and the Necessity of Critical Pedagogy	11
Henry A. Giroux
2. Schooling in Disaster Capitalism: How the Political Right Is Using Disaster to Privatize Public Schooling	27
Kenneth J. Saltman
3. Critical Pedagogy, Latino/a Education, and the Politics of Class Struggle	55
Peter McLaren and Nathalia E. Jaramillo
4. Unmasking Prepackaged Democracy	79
Donald Maccdo
5. A Critical Pedagogy of Hope in Times of Despair	97
Ramin Farahmandpur
Part 2 Critical Pedagogy: A Source of Hope and Possibility
6. What Is Critical Pedagogy Good For? An Interview with Ira Shor	119
Sheila L. Macrine

7. Teaching as Possibility: A Light in Dark Times Maxine Greene	137
8. Imagining Justice in a Culture of Terror: Pedagogy, Politics, and Dissent Antonia Darder	151
9. Amilcar Cabral: Pedagogue of the Revolution Paulo Freire. Translated by Sheila L. Macrine, Fernando Naiditch, and Joao Paraskeva	167
10. Toward a Critical Pedagogy of the Global Noah De Lissovoy	189
Afterword Gustavo E. Fischman	207
List of Contributors	217
Index	221