

Contents

	Preface	1
	Chapter One.....	7
1	The Adventure of Self	7
1.1	The Doubled Self.....	7
1.2	Plath’s Formative Years	9
1.2.1	The Influence of the Father	9
	Chapter Two	17
2	The Drive for Change.....	17
2.1	Saldívar’s Thesis: The Negating Imagination.....	17
2.2	The Inadequacy of Metaphor	19
2.2.1	Reading “The Moon and the Yew Tree” (1961).....	23
	Chapter Three	27
3	“Ach, Du” – Images of Masculinity in Plath’s Poetry	27
3.1	Introduction - Plath’s Experience of Men	27
3.1.1	Reading the Male in Plath’s Poetry.....	29
3.1.2	The Threatening Male in Plath’s Poetry	30
3.2	Grieving for the Alternative Father?	33
3.3	The Shadow of the Father – “The Colossus” (1959) and “Daddy” (1962).....	35
	Chapter Four.....	41
4	“Birthing the Self:” Figuring the Feminine in Plath	41
4.1	Motherhood and Monstrosity	41
4.2	“Mother to Myself”: Self-Creation, Allegory and Entrapment.....	48
4.3	“The Bee Sequence” – Allegories of Passive Power	52

	Chapter Five	59
5	Into the Abyss: The Last Poems 1962-1963	59
5.1	1962: January to July.....	63
5.2	1962: September to November: The Impasse of Self-Parody.....	66
5.3	1963 – The Final Phase	70
	Chapter Six	73
6	The Plath Myth.....	73
6.1	Plath’s Legacy	73
6.2	Afterword: Rebirth and the Identity and Transformation in Plath’s “A Birthday Present” (1962).....	77
	Works Cited.....	83
	Selected Chronology of Plath’s Literary Life	167
	Sources.....	173