

Contents

1. Introduction	1
2. The model	4
2.1. Households	5
2.2. The production sector	6
2.2.1. Search and matching in the labor market	6
2.2.2. The firm	7
2.2.3. Wage setting and Bellman equations	8
2.3. The government	10
2.4. Equilibrium	11
2.5. Some theoretical predictions of the model	11
3. Optimal entitlement duration and dynamic properties of the model under different policy rules	12
3.1. Calibration	13
3.2. The optimal rules	14
3.3. Impulse response analysis	15
3.4. Extensions and discussion of the results	19
4. Conclusions	22
A. Deriving unions' marginal utility	23

List of Figures

1. Impulse responses of selected variables to a productivity shock in the US . 16
2. Impulse responses of selected variables to a productivity shock in the EU 17
3. Comparing the impulse responses in the EU and US 18

List of Tables

1. Baseline calibration 14