

Contents

---

I. Theoretical Issues
1. The Individual and History: An Introduction	3
2. Development and History in Social Science Theories	9
3. Ecological Interpretations of Development	17
4. Nomothetic Interpretations of History	33
5. Models of Growth and Change	53
II. Case Studies
6. Developmental Psychology and Society	71
7. The Ideological Bases of Developmental Psychology	95
8. Structure and Transformation in Modern Intellectual History	109
9. Historical Comparison of Monetary and Linguistic Systems	131
10. Structural Analysis of the History of Early Greek and Early European Philosophy	143
11. Structural Analysis of the History of Experimental Psychology	175
III. Research Reports
12. Structural Analysis of the History of the Department of Psychology at the University of Michigan	193
13. Cross-Reference Analysis of the History of Psychological Gerontology	203
14. The Recall of Events from the Individual and Collective Past	221
15. On the Psychology of Development and History	237
References	247
Index	259