

Contents

Preface	vii
---------	-----

PART I ISSUES IN DEVELOPMENTAL EXPLANATION

1 Describing the child's mind Kathleen V. Wilkes	3
2 On the very idea of acquiring a concept Andrew Woodfield	17
3 The development of 'introspection' William Lyons	31

PART II THE DEVELOPMENT OF PERCEPTION

4 The explanatory depth of propositional attitudes: perceptual development as a test case Adam Morton	67
5 Reasons for retaining the view that there is perceptual development in childhood James Russell	81

PART III EGO DEVELOPMENT

6 A dualist perspective on psychological development Howard Robinson	119
7 Synthesis in the imagination: psychoanalysis, infantile experience and the concept of an object James Hopkins	140

PART IV ISSUES IN STAGE THEORY

- 8 Concept formation and moral development
Gareth B. Matthews 175
- 9 On Piaget on necessity
Leslie Smith 191
- 10 Piaget on logic and number: the philosophical background
Wolfe Mays 220

PART V AN OVERVIEW

- 11 Varieties of perspective: an overview
Carol Feldman and Jerome Bruner 243
- Notes on contributors 256
- Index 259