

CHAPTER 1

The Study
of Human Development 1

A CHILD OF NATURE? 2

THE LEGACY OF ITARD 3

The Rise of a New Discipline 4

Modern Developmental Psychology 6

THE CENTRAL QUESTIONS OF
DEVELOPMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY 7

Questions about Continuity 7

Are Human Beings Distinctive? 7

Is Individual Development Continuous? 9

Are There Critical Periods of
Development? 11

Questions about the Sources of Development 11

The Biological-Maturation Framework 14

The Environmental-Learning Framework 15

The Universal-Constructivist Framework 16

The Cultural-Context Framework 17

Questions about Individual Differences 20

THE DISCIPLINE OF
DEVELOPMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY 21

Criteria of Scientific Description 21

Techniques of Data Collection 22

Self-reports 22

Naturalistic Observations 23

Experimental Methods 28

Clinical Interview Methods 32

Research Designs	33
Longitudinal Designs	34
Cross-sectional Designs	35
Research Designs and Data-Collection
Techniques in Perspective	36
The Role of Theory	36
THIS BOOK AND THE FIELD OF DEVELOPMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY	37
BOX 1.1 Philosophical Forefathers of Developmental Psychology	12
BOX 1.2 Correlation and Causation	26
BOX 1.3 Ethical Standards for Research with Children	30
Summary	40
Key Terms	40
Suggested Readings	41

PART I • IN THE BEGINNING 43

CHAPTER 2

The Human Heritage: Genes and Environment 47

SEXUAL REPRODUCTION AND GENETIC TRANSMISSION	49
Mitosis: A Process of Cell Replication	49
Meiosis: A Source of Variability	50
Sexual Determination: A Case of Variability	53
THE LAWS OF GENETIC INHERITANCE	55
Genotype and Phenotype	57
Sex-Linked Genetic Effects	57

GENES, THE ORGANISM, AND THE ENVIRONMENT	58
Studying Gene-Environment Interactions	58
The Range of Reaction for Human Genotypes	59
Feedback in Gene-Environment Interactions	60
Picturing Gene-Environment Interactions	61
Four Common Oversimplifications of Gene-Environment Interactions	63
The Assumption That There Is a Developmental Program	63
The Assumption That Genes Determine the Phenotype	63
The Assumption That Genes Determine Capacity	63
The Assumption That Genes Determine Tendencies	63
MUTATIONS AND GENETIC ABNORMALITIES	65
Sickle-Cell Anemia: An Example of Gene-Environment Interaction	65
Down's Syndrome: A Chromosomal Error	67
Sex-Linked Chromosomal Abnormalities	68
Phenylketonuria: A Treatable Genetic Disease	69
BIOLOGY AND CULTURE	69
Acquired Characteristics	70
Coevolution	72
BOX 2.1 Twinning	52
BOX 2.2 Genetic Counseling	70
Summary	73
Key Terms	74
Suggested Readings	74

CHAPTER 3
Prenatal Development and Birth

THE PERIODS OF PRENATAL DEVELOPMENT	78
The Germinal Period	80
The First Cells of Life	80
The Emergence of New Forms	81
Implantation	82
The Embryonic Period	83
Sources of Nutrition and Protection	83
The Growth of the Embryo	84
The Emergence of Embryonic Movement	84
The Fetal Period	86
Fetal Activity	86
Functions of Fetal Activity	87
THE DEVELOPING ORGANISM IN THE PRENATAL ENVIRONMENT	89
The Fetus's Sensory Capacities	89
Motion	89
Vision	89
Sound	89
Fetal Learning	90
Maternal Conditions and Prenatal Development	90
The Effects of Maternal Attitudes and Psychological Stress	91
Nutritional Influences on Prenatal Development	92
Teratogens: Environmental Sources of Birth Defects	96
Drugs	96
Infections and Other Conditions	98
Principles of Teratogenic Effects	102
PRENATAL DEVELOPMENT RECONSIDERED	103
BIRTH: THE FIRST BIO-SOCIAL-BEHAVIORAL SHIFT	104
The Stages of Labor	104
Cultural Variations in Childbirth	105
Childbirth in the United States	107
Childbirth Pain and Its Medication	108
Medical Interventions during Childbirth	108

THE NEWBORN'S CONDITION	110
Assessing the Baby's Viability	110
Physical State	110
Behavioral Condition	110
Problems and Complications	111
Prematurity	111
Low Birth Weight	113
Developmental Consequences	113
BEGINNING THE PARENT-CHILD RELATIONSHIP	114
The Baby's Appearance	114
Early Parent-Infant Contact	115
Social Expectations	117
BOX 3.1 The Development of Sexual Differentiation	85
BOX 3.2 Fathers and Pregnancy	92
BOX 3.3 The Baby's Experience of Birth	109
BOX 3.4 The Parents' Response to the Baby's Arrival	116
Summary	119
Key Terms	120
Suggested Readings	120

PART II • INFANCY 123

CHAPTER 4

Early Infancy: Initial Capacities and the Process of Change	127
--	-----

EARLIEST CAPACITIES	128
Sensory Processes	128
Hearing	129
Vision	131
Response Processes	136
Reflexes	136

Emotions	136
Temperament	139
BECOMING COORDINATED	141
Sleeping	141
Feeding	143
Crying	144
MECHANISMS OF DEVELOPMENTAL CHANGE	147
From Sucking to Nursing	147
The Biological-Maturation Perspective	148
Reflexes and the Brain	148
Evidence from Studies of Babies with Abnormalities	151
Evidence from Studies of Reflexes and Later Behavior	152
The Environmental-Learning Perspective	153
Classical Conditioning	155
Operant Conditioning	157
The Universal-Constructivist Perspective:
Piaget	160
Piaget's Theory of Developmental Change	160
The Sensorimotor Period and Its Substages	161
Piaget's Theory and the Social Environment	164
The Cultural-Context Perspective	165
INTEGRATING THE SEPARATE THREADS OF DEVELOPMENT	168
THE FIRST POSTNATAL BIO-SOCIAL-BEHAVIORAL SHIFT	169
The Emergence of Social Smiling	170
The Social Smile and Social Feedback	171
SUMMING UP THE FIRST TWO AND A HALF MONTHS	172
BOX 4.1 Comforting the Fussy Baby	146
BOX 4.2 Experience and Development of the Brain	154
BOX 4.3 Imitation in the Newborn?	158
Summary	173
Key Terms	174
Suggested Readings	175

CHAPTER 5

The Achievements of the First Year 177

BIOLOGICAL CHANGES	179
Size and Shape	179
Muscle and Bone	180
The Brain	180
PERCEPTUAL AND MOTOR DEVELOPMENT	181
Reaching and Grasping	181
Locomotion	183
The Role of Practice in Motor Development	184
COGNITIVE CHANGES	186
Piaget's Sensorimotor Substages	187
Substage 3: Secondary Circular Reactions (4 to 8 Months)	188
Substage 4: Coordination of Secondary Circular Reactions (8 to 12 Months)	188
Piaget's Test for Object Permanence: Out of Sight, Out of Mind?	188
Stages of Object Permanence	189
Stages 1 and 2 (Birth to 4 Months)	189
Stage 3 (4 to 8 Months)	189
Stage 4 (8 to 12 Months)	190
Explaining the Acquisition of Object Permanence	190
Integrating the Various Properties of Objects	194
Learning about Kinds of Things	196
The Growth of Memory	198
Recall and Wariness	198
A NEW RELATIONSHIP WITH THE SOCIAL WORLD	200
The Role of Uncertainty in Wariness	200
A New Form of Emotional Relationship	201
The Changing Nature of Communication	202

A NEW BIO-SOCIAL-BEHAVIORAL SHIFT	204
BOX 5.1 Action and Understanding	194
Summary	205
Key Terms	206
Suggested Readings	206

CHAPTER 6

The End of Infancy 209

BIOLOGICAL MATURATION	211
PERCEPTUAL-MOTOR COORDINATION	212
Walking	212
Manual Dexterity	214
Control of Elimination	215
A NEW MODE OF THOUGHT	216
Completing the Sensorimotor Substages	216
Substage 5: Tertiary Circular Reactions (12 to 18 Months)	216
Substage 6: Representation (18 to 24 Months)	217
Mastery of Object Permanence	217
Problem Solving	219
Play	220
Imitation	221
THE GROWTH OF THE ABILITY TO CATEGORIZE	222
FIRST WORDS	223
THE DEVELOPMENT OF CHILD- CAREGIVER RELATIONS	225
Explanations of Attachment	225
Sigmund Freud's Drive-Reduction Explanation	225

Erik Erikson's Psychosocial Explanation	226
John Bowlby's Evolutionary Explanation	226
Evidence from Animal Models	227
Patterns of Attachment	229
The Causes of Variations in Patterns of Attachment	232
Stability of Patterns of Attachment	236
The Developmental Course of Attachment	237
A NEW SENSE OF SELF	237
A Sense of Standards	237
Self-description	238
Self-recognition	238
THE END OF INFANCY	239
BOX 6.1 Attachment to Fathers and Others	234
Summary	240
Key Terms	241
Suggested Readings	241

CHAPTER 7

Early Experience and Later Life 243

OPTIMAL CONDITIONS FOR INFANT DEVELOPMENT	245
Spoiling: Responding Too Much?	247
Learned Helplessness: Responding Too Little	248
EFFECTS OF SEPARATION	249
Temporary Separation from Parents	250
Extended Separation from Parents	251
Children of the Crèche	251
Children Reared in Well-Staffed Orphanages	254
Isolated Children	256

VULNERABILITY AND RESILIENCE	257
Characteristics of the Family	257
Characteristics of the Community	258
Characteristics of the Child	258
Transactional Models of Development	259
RECOVERY FROM DEPRIVATION	261
Harlow's Monkeys Revisited	261
Recovery from the Effects of Isolation	262
Implications for Human Recovery	263
THE PRIMACY OF INFANCY RECONSIDERED	263
Attachment	265
Cognitive Development	266
Coming to Terms with Limited Predictability	266
BOX 7.1 Out-of-Home Care in the First Year of Life	252
Summary	267
Key Terms	268
Suggested Readings	268

PART III • EARLY CHILDHOOD 271

CHAPTER 8

Language
Acquisition 275

PRELINGUISTIC COMMUNICATION	277
THE PUZZLE OF LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT	277
The Problem of Reference	278
The Problem of Grammar	279
FOUR SUBSYSTEMS OF LANGUAGE	280
Sounds	280
Words	281
Words as Mediators	282

The Earliest Vocabulary	283
Early Word Meanings	284
The Changing Structure of Children's Vocabularies	286
Do Early Words Stand for Sentences?	287
Sentences	288
Two-Word Utterances	288
Increasing Complexity	289
The Uses of Language	292
Conversational Acts	292
Conversational Conventions	292
Taking Account of the Listener	293
EXPLANATIONS OF LANGUAGE ACQUISITION	295
The Learning-Theory Explanation	295
Classical Conditioning	296
Operant Conditioning	296
Imitation	297
The Nativist Explanation	297
Interactionist Explanations	299
ESSENTIAL INGREDIENTS OF LANGUAGE ACQUISITION	300
The Biological Prerequisites for Language	300
Is Language Uniquely Human?	301
Children with Severe Biological Handicaps	302
The Environment of Language Development	303
Partial Deprivation	303
How Interaction Contributes to Language Acquisition	304
Is There a Role for Deliberate Instruction?	306
LANGUAGE AND THOUGHT	308
The Environmental-Learning Perspective	308
The Piagetian Interactionist Perspective	308
The Nativist Perspective	309
A Cultural-Context Perspective	309
THE BASIC PUZZLES OF LANGUAGE ACQUISITION RECONSIDERED	311
BOX 8.1 Gulliver among the Laputans	284
BOX 8.2 Figurative Language	294
Summary	312
Key Terms	313
Suggested Readings	313

CHAPTER 9

Early Childhood: Islands of Competence

315

PIAGET'S ACCOUNT OF MENTAL DEVELOPMENT IN EARLY CHILDHOOD	317
Egocentrism	319
Confusing Appearance and Reality	321
Precausal Reasoning	323
THE STUDY OF YOUNG CHILDREN'S THINKING AFTER PIAGET	324
The Problem of Uneven Levels of Performance	324
Nonegocentric Reasoning	324
Distinguishing Appearance from Reality	326
Effective Causal Reasoning	327
The Search for Alternatives	328
Neo-Piagetian Theories of Cognitive Development	329
Information-Processing Approaches	333
Biological Accounts of Mental Development in Early Childhood	335
The Growth of the Brain	335
Mental Modules	336
Assessing Modularity Explanations	337
Culture and Mental Development in Early Childhood	337
The Mental Representation of Contexts	338
The Functions of Scripts	339
Cultural Context and the Unevenness of Development	340
Assessing the Cultural-Context Explanation	341

APPLYING THE THEORETICAL PERSPECTIVES	344
Constructing the Stages of Drawing	344
An Information-Processing Account of Drawing	345
Drawing as a Mental Module	347
A Cultural-Context Account of the Development of Drawing	348
RECONCILING ALTERNATIVE PERSPECTIVES	350
BOX 9.1 Young Children as Witnesses	330
BOX 9.2 Sociodramatic Play	342
Summary	351
Key Terms	352
Suggested Readings	352

CHAPTER 10

Social Development in Early Childhood	355
---------------------------------------	-----

ACQUIRING A SOCIAL AND PERSONAL IDENTITY	357
Sex-Role Identity	358
Identification through Differentiation	359
Identification through Affiliation	362
Identification through Observation and Imitation	363
Identification through Cognition	364
Sex-Role Knowledge and Sex-Role Behavior	365
Sex-Role Constancy	367
Theories of Sex-Role Identification Compared	367
Ethnic and Racial Identity	368
DEVELOPING THE ABILITY TO REGULATE ONESELF	369
Internalization	371
Self-control	371

AGGRESSION AND PROSOCIAL BEHAVIOR	375
The Development of Aggression	376
What Causes Aggression?	377
The Evolutionary Argument	377
Rewarding Aggression	378
Modeling	378
Controlling Human Aggression	379
Evolutionary Theories	380
Frustration and the Catharsis Myth	382
Punishment	382
Rewarding Nonaggressive Behaviors	383
Cognitive Training	383
The Development of Prosocial Behavior	384
Evolutionary Explanations	384
Empathy	384
Evidence on the Development of Prosocial Behaviors	385
Promoting Prosocial Behavior	386
THE EMERGENCE OF NEW EMOTIONS	387
TAKING ONE'S PLACE IN THE SOCIAL GROUP AS A DISTINCT INDIVIDUAL	390
BOX 10.1 Sigmund Freud	360
BOX 10.2 Erik Erikson	372
Summary	391
Key Terms	392
Suggested Readings	392

CHAPTER 11

The Contexts of Early Childhood Development	395
---	-----

THE FAMILY AS A CONTEXT FOR DEVELOPMENT	397
A Cross-cultural Study of Family Organization and Socialization	397

Family Configurations and Socialization
Practices in North America	402
Parenting Styles in the Middle-class
North American Nuclear Family	403
Patterns of Socialization in Single-Parent Families	405
The Impact of Poverty on Child Rearing	408
Coping with Economic Disadvantage: The Extended Family and Social Networks	412
MEDIA LINKING COMMUNITY AND HOME	412
Television: What Is Real? What Is Pretend?	413
The Problem of Television Form	414
The Problem of Television Content	415
Family Influences	416
Books	418
The Form of Early Literacy Experiences	418
The Content of Early Reading	419
THE YOUNG CHILD IN THE COMMUNITY	421
Varieties of Day Care	421
Home Care	421
Family Day Care	421
Day-care Centers	421
Developmental Effects of Day Care	422
Shortcomings of the Evidence	423
Intellectual Effects	423
Impact on Social Development	424
Nursery School	426
Preschools and the “War on Poverty”	428
What Difference Does Head Start Make?	428
The Future of Compensatory Preschool Programs	430
ON THE THRESHOLD	430
BOX 11.1 Siblings and Socialization	398
BOX 11.2 Child Abuse and Neglect	410
BOX 11.3 The Sense of Nonsense Verse	420
BOX 11.4 Cultural Variations in Preschool Education	426
Summary	431
Key Terms	432
Suggested Readings	432

CHAPTER 12

Cognitive and Biological
Attainments
of Middle
Childhood 437

BIOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENTS	440
Physical Growth	440
Brain Developments	441
A NEW QUALITY OF MIND?	444
New Forms of Remembering	444
Memory Capacity	445
Memory Strategies	446
Knowledge Base	447
Metamemory	448
The Combined Picture	448
Concrete Operations: New Forms of Reasoning?	448
Conservation	450
Alternative Interpretations	454
Logical Classification	455
Considering Two Things at a Time	457
Perceiving Two Things at a Time	457
Declining Egocentrism	458
The Growth of Effective Communication	458
Social Perspective-Taking	458
Cultural Variations in Cognitive Change	460
Studies of Concrete Operations	461
Studies of Memory	464
Is Middle Childhood a Universal Stage of Development?	465
Summary	466
Key Terms	466
Suggested Readings	467

CHAPTER 13

Schooling and Development in Middle Childhood

469

THE CONTEXTS IN WHICH SKILLS ARE TAUGHT	470
THE NATURE OF SCHOOL LEARNING	473
The Historical Development of Literacy and Schooling	473
Literacy and Schooling in Modern Times	474
Development of the Alphabet	475
DEVELOPMENT AND ACADEMIC SKILLS	476
Learning to Read	476
The Components of Reading	476
Top-down versus Bottom-up Processing	477
Reciprocal Teaching	481
Learning Arithmetic	482
The Special Language of Schooling	485
Instructional Discourse	485
Learning Notation Systems	486
THE COGNITIVE CONSEQUENCES OF SCHOOLING	487
The School Cutoff Strategy	490
Cross-cultural Research on the Effects of Schooling	490
Concrete Operations	490
Lexical Organization	491
Memory	491
Metacognitive Skills	492
The Evidence in Overview	493
APTITUDE FOR SCHOOLING	494
The Origins of Intelligence Testing	495
The Legacy of Binet and Simon	496

From Mental Age to IQ	496
The Nature of Intelligence: General or Specific?	498
Population Differences and the Nature-Nurture Controversy	499
IQ Performance and the Logic of Testing	501
THE SCHOOL AND THE COMMUNITY	504
Family Influences	505
Peer Influences	505
School Atmosphere	508
Out of School	511
BOX 13.1 The Human Body as a Calculator	483
BOX 13.2 Language Diversity and Education	488
BOX 13.3 Schooling in Three Cultures	506
BOX 13.4 Teachers' Expectations and School Success	509
Summary	511
Key Terms	512
Suggested Readings	513

CHAPTER 14

The Social Relations of Middle Childhood

515

GAMES AND GROUP REGULATION	519
Games and Rules	519
Games and Life	522
REASONING AND ACTION IN DIFFERENT RULE DOMAINS	525
Thou Shalt Not: Reasoning about Moral Transgressions	527
Thou Shalt: Reasoning about Rules of Fairness	530
Reasoning about Social Conventions	534

RELATIONS WITH OTHER CHILDREN	535
Friendship	535
Age-Related Changes in Friendship	535
Factors That Influence the Formation of Friendships	536
What Do Friends Do Together?	538
Boys and Girls as Friends	538
Friendship and Social Competence	539
Peer Relations and Social Status	540
Parental Influences on Children's Status among Peers	544
Competition and Cooperation within Groups	545
Competition and Conflict between Groups	546
Developmental Consequences of Peer Interaction	548
CHANGING RELATIONS WITH PARENTS	550
A NEW SENSE OF SELF	554
Concepts of the Self	554
Social Comparison	556
Self-esteem	558
MIDDLE CHILDHOOD RECONSIDERED	560
BOX 14.1 Socialization for Adulthood: Little League Baseball	520
BOX 14.2 Boys' Games, Girls' Games	524
BOX 14.3 Maternal Employment and Child Welfare	552
Summary	561
Key Terms	562
Suggested Readings	562

CHAPTER 15

 Biological and Social Foundations of
 Adolescence 567

 TRADITIONAL CONCEPTIONS
 OF ADOLESCENCE 569

MODERN THEORIES OF ADOLESCENCE 572

The Biological-Maturation Perspective 572

Arnold Gesell 572

Sigmund Freud 572

Ethological Approaches 573

The Environmental-Learning Perspective 573

The Universal-Constructivist Perspective 574

Jean Piaget 574

Erik Erikson 575

The Cultural-Context Perspective 575

PUBERTY 576

The Growth Spurt 576

Sexual Development 577

The Timing of Puberty 579

The Developmental Impact of Puberty 580

Rites of Passage 580

 Psychological Responses to Pubertal
 Events 581

Consequences of Early and Late Maturation 582

 THE REORGANIZATION OF SOCIAL LIFE 583

The Effects of Puberty on Family Relations 583

A New Relationship with Peers 583

Friendship	583
Popularity	586
The Transition to Sexual Relationships	588
Sexual Activity	590
Sex as Scripted Activity	591
Sexual Expectations	591
Initial Responses to Sexual Intercourse	592
Changing Sexual Habits	593
Teenage Pregnancy	594
Parents versus Peers	595
The Relative Influence of Parents and Peers	595
Peer Pressure to Conform	597
The Content and Severity of Adolescent- Parent Conflict	598
Work	600
THE BIO-SOCIAL FRAME AND ADOLESCENT DEVELOPMENT	602
BOX 15.1 Recapitulation and Development	570
BOX 15.2 The Traditional Kikuyu Script for Adolescent Sex	592
Summary	603
Key Terms	604
Suggested Readings	604

CHAPTER 16

The Psychological Achievements of Adolescence	607
--	-----

RESEARCH ON ADOLESCENT THOUGHT	609
Formal Operations	610

Classic Studies in Formal Operations	611
Are Formal Operations Universal?	613
Alternative Approaches to Adolescent Thought	616
Information-Processing Theories	616
A Changing Relation of Thought to Language	617
The Cultural-Context Perspective	618
ADOLESCENT THINKING ABOUT THE SOCIAL ORDER	623
Thinking about Politics	623
Laws	623
Social Control	624
Political Idealism	624
Thinking about Moral Issues	626
Sex Differences in Moral Reasoning	629
Cultural Variation in Moral Reasoning	630
INTEGRATION OF THE SELF	632
Changing Attributes of the Self	632
Adolescent Self-esteem	633
Resolving the Identity Crisis	634
The Psychosexual Resolution	641
Sexual Variations in Identity Formation	641
Minority-Group Status and Identity Formation	642
Cross-cultural Variations in Identity Formation	644
THE TRANSITION TO ADULTHOOD	646
Is Adolescence a Distinctive Stage of Development?	646
Adolescence in Modern Societies	647
Looking Ahead	649
BOX 16.1 Formal Operations in a Nonliterate Culture	620
BOX 16.2 Homosexuality	638
Summary	649
Key Terms	650
Suggested Readings	651

CHAPTER 17

Development
and Later Life 653

THE DISCOVERY OF ADULTHOOD 655

THEORETICAL APPROACHES TO
ADULTHOOD AND OLD AGE 656

EMPIRICAL RESEARCH ON CHANGE
IN LATER LIFE 658

Biological and Cognitive Change 658

 Biological Changes 658

 Cognitive Changes 660

Social Factors and Psychological Change	663
Variation in the Social Structuring of the Life Course	666
The Influence of Social Factors on Cognition and Biology	669
DECLINE OR CONTINUING DEVELOPMENT?	670
BOX 17.1 Suddenly I'm the Adult?	666
Summary	672
Key Terms	672
Suggested Readings	673
GLOSSARY	675
REFERENCES	687
SOURCES OF PHOTOGRAPHS	753
NAME INDEX	757
SUBJECT INDEX	767