

Contents

Preface	vii
1 Explaining Our Behavior	1
The Psychology of Everyman and Everywoman	1
The Human Mechanism	13
Learning to Be Human	26
From Newborn to Human Nature	39
2 Seeing and Hearing	48
Is the Newborn Blind?	48
Is the Newborn Deaf?	51
Categories	53
3 The World and its Objects	70
Space	71
Objects	84
4 Self and Others	99
The Body and Other Persons	100
The Thinking of Others	109

5 The Biological Foundations of Language	126
The Chimpanzee that Babbled	127
Language and the Limitations of Perception	132
The Organ of Language	142
How Babies Access Language	151
Conclusion: Human Nature and the Cognitive Sciences	174
The End of Vitalism	174
The Return of Rationalism and the Permanence of Humanity	177
Notes	182
References	190
Index	206