

Table of Contents

LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS	vii
----------------------------	-----

General Introduction:

How Can Developmental Psychology Become “Culture-Inclusive”?	1
Jaan Valsiner

PART I. THEORETICAL AND INTERNATIONAL PERSPECTIVES

Introduction	11
1. Research Strategies in Culture-Inclusive Developmental Psychology	13
Thomas Kindermann and Jaan Valsiner
2. Toward Contextual Sensitivity in Developmental Psychology: A Nigerian Perspective	51
Eileen B. Wilson-Oyelaran
3. Organization of Children’s Social Development in Polygamic Families	67
Jaan Valsiner
4. Kohlberg’s “Just Community” and the Development of Moral Reasoning: A Chinese Perspective	87
Mei-Ha Wong
5. To Spare or Not to Spare the Rod: A Cultural-Historical View of Child Discipline	111
Ellen S. Peisner

PART II. INTERDEPENDENCE BETWEEN CULTURE AND CHILD DEVELOPMENT

Introduction	145
6. Features of Infant Social Interaction in Three Cultures in Malaysia	147
Robert H. Woodson and Elizette da Costa

7. Socialization of American Toddlers for Social Courtesy	163
Jaan Valsiner and Paula E. Hill
8. The Socialization of Gender Identity: Observations From Nepal	181
Debra Skinner
9. Socialization for Moral Reasoning: Maternal Strategies of Samoans and Europeans in New Zealand	193
Barbara Van Steenburgh Reid

PART III. CULTURE AND SOCIAL-COGNITIVE DEVELOPMENT

Introduction	223
10. Children's Acquisition of Economic Knowledge: Understanding Banking in Hong Kong and the U.S.A	225
Mei-Ha Wong
11. Environmental Differences in Understanding Production and Distribution	247
Anna Emilia Berti and Anna Silvia Bombi
12. Formal Operational Thought and the Moroccan Adolescent	273
Douglas A. Davis
General Conclusion: Towards Culture-Inclusive Developmental Psychology Overcoming Epistemological Obstacles	291
Jaan Valsiner
NAME INDEX	295
SUBJECT INDEX	301