

Contents

Preface	vii
1. Events, Narratives, Memory: What Develops? Katherine Nelson	1
2. Identifying Subsystems of Autobiographical Memory: Commentary on Nelson Patricia J. Bauer	25
3. Emotional Content of Parent-Child Conversations About the Past Robyn Fivush	39
4. The Ontogeny of Memory Revisited: Commentary on Nelson and Fivush Louise Hertzgaard and Alexandra Matthews	79
5. Troubles in the Garden and How They Get Resolved: A Young Child's Transformation of His Favorite Story Peggy J. Miller, Lisa Hoogstra, Judith Mintz, Heidi Fung, and Kimberly Williams	87
6. Placing Affect and Narrative in Developmental and Cultural Context: Comments on Miller et al. Ganie B. DeHart	115

7. Children's Memory for Other People: An Integrative Review	123
Graham M. Davies
8. The Child Witness, the Courts, and Psychological Research	159
Steven Penrod
9. Understanding Children's Memories of Medical Procedures: "He Didn't Touch Me and It Didn't Hurt!"	171
Margaret S. Steward
10. A Case Example of Clinically Relevant Research: Commentary on Steward	227
Susan Phipps-Yonas
11. From Dialogue to Internal Working Models: The Co-Construction of Self in Relationships	237
Inge Bretherton
Author Index	265
Subject Index	275