

Table of Contents

INTRODUCTION. Canada:
Images of a Post/National Society11
Gunilla Florby, Mark Shackleton & Katri Suhonen

PART I. POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC ASPECTS OF THE POST/NATIONAL STATE

Immigration Policy and Literature.
Contradictions of a “Post-National” State?25
Shauna Wilton

Resisting the Post-National. Canadian Critiques of the Geo/Cultural/Politics of Globalization39
Michael Keefer

The Non-Vanishing Border. Change and Continuity in Canadian-American Relations55
David G. Haglund & Joseph T. Jockel

Tourisme et nostalgie pour une espèce menacée qu’on appelle le Nord71
Alain A. Grenier

The Post/National Society and the Canadian Economy89
John Robinson

Canada’s Largest City in a Post-National Society99
Harvey Schwartz

PART II. IMAGES OF A NATIONAL (AND MULTICULTURAL) SOCIETY

Imprint and the Nation. The History of English-Canadian Publishing through the Lens of L. M. Montgomery113
Carole Gerson

Sunshine Sketches of a Little Town in the Continuum of Canadian Literature127
David Staines

Une saison dans la vie d'Emmanuel ou l'hiver de la société et de la littérature québécoises	139
Katri Suhonen
Engaging the Other in Rudy Wiebe's Early Writing. Peace Shall Destroy Many and First and Vital Candle	151
Janne Korkka
Contemporary Issues in Canadian Plays by Jewish Writers	165
Albert-Reiner Glaap
L'absence du corps et la présence des images. Le principe de réduction chez Denis Marleau	175
Eve Irène Therrien

PART III. IMAGES OF EXILE AND MIGRATION

Images of a Ghost-National Society. Pumpkins, Orange Tents, and Chernobyl Coiffure	191
Janice Kulyk Keefer
M. G. Vassanji and the Post-National Predicament.....	217
Gunilla Florby
The Young Generation's Images of Canada in Novels by Carol Shields, Thomas King, and Eva Hoffman	225
Elisabeth Mårald
Images of North America in Writings by Three Icelandic Authors. Matthías Jochumsson, Jón Ólafsson, and Einar H. Kvaran	235
Úlfar Bragason
Le Canada et les représentations du Nord dans l'œuvre de Xavier Marmier (1808-1892). Substitutions et parallèles	245
Maria Walecka-Garbalinska

PART IV. VISIONS OF THE POST/NATIONAL STATE

Strategies for Legitimizing Difference. Mixed-Race Resistance in the Works of Andrea Thompson and Lorena Gale, Two African-Canadian Writers	259
George Elliott Clarke

Images of Canada in a Post-National Perspective.
Janice Kulyk Keefer’s “The Waste Zone”	277
Britta Olinder
The (Post/National) Body as a Carnivalized
Historiographer in Leonard Cohen’s Beautiful Losers	289
Rūta Šlapkauskaitė
Tomson Highway’s Ernestine Shuswap Gets Her Trout.
Imagining the Post-National Society	299
Mark Shackleton
“All this water imagery must mean something”.
On the Fluctuating State of Nations in Suzette Mayr’s
The Widows and Thomas King’s Green Grass,
Running Water	309
Markus M. Müller
Larissa Lai’s Novel When Fox Is a Thousand.
Images of a “Post” Society	323
Gurli Woods
D’une tribu à l’autre : François Barcelo	333
Voichita-Maria Sasu Duelling Chronotopes. Pre-Colonial and Postmodern/Post-Colonial Time and Space
in Michael Ondaatje’s Anil’s Ghost	343
Marlene Broemer
Hypatie ou la fin des dieux de Jean Marcel et le post/nationalisme ?	355
Susan M. Murphy
CODA. POST/NATIONAL ART
Images of a Post/National Society.
Nobel Flags of Peace Project 2005	373
Susan Gold/Smith
Notes on Contributors	381