

CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables	9
Acknowledgements	10
Editorial Foreword	11
Prefaces	13
1 Social Motivation	17
2 Verbal and Non-Verbal Communication	37
3 Social Skill	59
4 Eye-contact and the Direction of Gaze	78
5 Perception of Others	95
6 Social Behaviour and Personality	114
7 Two-person Relationships	135
8 Groups, Organization and Culture	160
9 Self-image and Self-esteem	187
10 Social Behaviour and Mental Disorder	207
11 Some Professional Social Skills	228
12 Training in Social Skills	263
13 Epilogue	284
References	292
Index of Names	313
Subject Index	319

LIST OF FIGURES AND TABLES

1	The relation between motivational arousal and effective effort	21
2	Analysis of approach-avoidance conflicts	24
3	Emotions perceived in schematic faces	39
4	Some postures with clear meanings	43
5	Male and female 'bodies-for-others', as experienced through the amount of touching received from others	44
6	Orientation in different relationships	46
7	Key movements between men in an office indicating their relationship	47
8	Effects of verbal and non-verbal cues	51
9	Non-verbal signals used in broadcasting	54, 55
10	Motor skill model	63
11	Laboratory arrangements for studying gaze-direction	78
12	Record of looking and speaking	79
13	Direction of gaze at the beginning and end of long utterances	82
14	The effects of distance on gaze and mutual gaze	87
15	The meaning of five patterns of gaze	89
16	Gaze as a function of sex, affiliative motivation and cooperative-competitive situations	92
17	Effect of role conflict and neurotic anxiety on intensity of experienced conflict	117
18	Social behaviour in different relationships	122
19	Cycles of interaction in the classroom	141
20	Classes of social interaction in terms of contingency	143
21	Amount of disclosure over time of high- and low-revealers	152
22	Organization chart	174
23	Effect of age and sex of the other on feeling observed	197
24	The learning of problem-solving by groups	265
25	Learning curves for selling	266
26	Acquisition of social skills in adolescence	267
27	Laboratory arrangements for interviewer training	271

LIST OF FIGURES AND TABLES

TABLES

1	Cross-cultural recognition of emotions	40
2	Percentage of variance accounted for by persons and situations	116
3	The Bales categories	139
4	Example of reactive Markov chain	140
5	Rules of sequence in auction sales	145
6	Combinations of dominant and affiliative techniques	155