

C ontents

	Figures and tables	ix
	Preface	xi
	Foreword	xiii
1	Lifespan development	1
	Prologue	1
	A rationale for understanding lifespan development	3
	The framework for the book	3
2	Theories of development	6
	Introduction	6
	Some earlier theoretical perspectives	6
	Some current theories of development	12
	Theoretical approaches to lifespan development	14
	Conclusions	16
3	Introducing the lifespan model of developmental challenge	18
	Introduction	18
	Individual differences in potential resources: components of the resource 'pool'	19
	Dynamic interaction within potential resources, and between potential resources and tasks to be faced	23
	When is a challenge met successfully?	28
	Seeking out challenges	31
	Development, stagnation and decay	32
	Conclusions	36

4	Challenges associated with normative and non-normative shifts	38
	Introduction	38
	Developmental shifts	39
	Normative and non-normative shifts: a comparison	44
	Coping with challenges	45
	Conclusions	47
5	For richer, for poorer? Two examples of non-normative events	49
	Introduction	49
	The challenges of separation and divorce	50
	An example of a historical shift: economic crisis	57
	Conclusions	62
6	First encounters with the world: the challenges of childhood	63
	Introduction	63
	Maturational changes as challenges to learn psycho-motor skills	64
	Learning to build up social resources	68
	Learning in school and leisure	72
	Conclusions	79
7	Adolescence and the status of early adulthood	81
	Introduction	81
	Puberty: the adolescent body, romance and societal images	82
	Leisure and risk-taking	84
	The symbols of adulthood: the finishing touches of socialization?	88
	The transition to early adulthood	93
	Conclusions	97
8	Middle adulthood: conventional lifestyles or new challenges	98
	Introduction	98
	Evaluating one's life and the 'mid-life crisis'	99
	Parenthood	101
	Career and unemployment	106
	The mid-life moratorium and the importance of leisure	111
	Conclusions	114

9	Late adulthood: back to the future?	116
	Introduction	116
	Bodily changes	117
	The menopause	118
	Being a grandparent	120
	Retirement from work	123
	Conclusions	128
10	Old age: the ultimate challenge?	129
	Introduction	129
	Accepting the ageing process and dealing with the social constructions of old age	130
	Normative and quasi-normative challenges	133
	Changes in social networks	135
	Bereavement	135
	Health	138
	Subjective perceptions of health	139
	Cognitive functioning	140
	Aspects of the challenges of old age	143
	Conclusions	145
11	Emerging themes of lifespan development	146
	Introduction	146
	The life course as a process of continuous challenge	147
	Meta-skills as important resources	149
	Consideration of the developmental challenge model	153
	The developmental challenge model and the analysis of development	155
	The developmental challenge model and the prediction of development	159
	The proposed values of the developmental challenge model	159
	References	164
	Index of names	186
	Index of subjects	192

Figures and tables

Figures

2.1	Examples of interactions according to Bronfenbrenner's theory	13
3.1	Examples of interacting elements in the resource 'pool'	20
3.2	Potential resources interacting with potential tasks and with situational characteristics	24
3.3	Relationship between task demands and resources	26
3.4	Development, stagnation and decay as a result of adding or draining resources	30
3.5	Individual transformations in meeting tasks	31
5.1	Potential resources interacting with potential tasks and with situational characteristics in the process of divorce	52
5.2	Mechanisms that link economic crisis and child behaviour problems	59
6.1	Mayan street-girl taking care of her younger brother	77
6.2	Mexican children swimming in a jungle river	77
6.3	German children diving in a middle-class bathroom	77
8.1	Evaluating one's life and opting for development, stagnation or decay	100
10.1	An example of ageism: newspaper cartoon from Norway	133

Tables

4.1	Developmental shifts	39
8.1	Developmental tasks for new parents	101