

Contents

Religion and Politics in Dictatorships and Democracies from the Enlightenment to the Present	9
Mission and Colonialism in Friedrich Fabri's (1824–1891) Thinking	21
Nationalism of Pastors and the Authoritarian State. Political “Cultures of Belief” in German Protestantism during the 1920s and 1930s	31
Seventy Years after “Machtergreifung”. The German Churches’ Political Stance 1933–2003	59
“The friends ... in America need to know the truth ...” The German Churches in the Opinion of the United States (1933–1941)	81
In Contradiction to the Grassroots? The Stance of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ (FCC) towards the “Third Reich”	125
Anti-Bolshevism and Anti-Semitism: The Catholic Church in Germany and National Socialist Ideology 1936/37	153
Confessional versus Ideological Convictions: The Flüednersches Evangelisationswerk and the Ecclesiastical Foreign Office of the German Protestant Church during the Spanish Civil War	163
Neo-Pagan Religiosity and Protestantism in the National Socialist State: The Cathedral in Quedlinburg as a Cult and Consecration Site	173
Martin Dibelius - an Internationally Renowned German. New Testament Scholar under National Socialism	209
“Efforts to strengthen the German Church”. The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and the Representatives of the German Protestant Church after the Second World War (1945–1948)	221
The GDR and the State Churches (1958–1989)	255
The “Church Struggle” during the Third Reich as a Subject of GDR Historiography. On the Conflict between Contextuality and Ethics of Profession	277

American Liaison Officers to Churches in Germany and Eastern Europe during the 1970s and 1980s	283
Peace – Human Rights – International Understanding. An Examination of the Terminology	291
The World Council of Churches' Programme to Combat Racism (PCR), the African Peoples' Republics and the German Churches	307