

Contents

1. Understanding the individual in society 3

- What is social psychology? 4
- The system of relationships underlying social behavior 5
- Levels of analysis in the social sciences 7
- Four features of social psychology 8
- Social analysis and its special qualities 10
- Social influence 13
- Communication in social influence 16
- Personal influence and detail influence 18
- The rewards of accepting influence 19
- Social expectancies 22
- Self-fulfilling prophecy 25
- Reference groups 27
- Summary 30
- Suggested readings/Selected references 31

CASES

1. Social traps 6
2. Optimism-pessimism and the state of the economy 12
3. Are Free and New the two most persuasive words in an advertisement's headline? 20
4. Will the June bug get you if you don't watch out? 22
5. If your teacher thinks you will do well, will you do well? 28

2. Theory and research in social psychology 33

- Theories as explanations 34
- The individual and the social situation 37
- The Homans theory of social exchange and the Festinger theory of informal social communication 39
- The definition of the situation as a bridge 41
- Research approaches to social behavior 43
- Being able to reject the hypothesis 45
- Selecting a research problem 46

CASES

6. If you're going to make predictions, should you do it often? 36
7. Dissonance and denial 42
8. The whimsical side of research 46
9. How to observe unobtrusively 50
10. Questionnaire overkill 68

Major methods of research in social psychology	47
Characteristics of the major methods	48
Observation	49
Field Studies: Newcomb's Bennington study and Homans's cash posters	50
Questionnaire surveys	54
Field experiments	57
Laboratory experiments	58
Specialized techniques of research	62
Some methodological issues, ethical concerns, and social criticisms	64
Issues of methodology	64
The ethics of research	66
Criticisms of social research	68
Applied social psychology	70
The great range of applied work in social psychology	70
Implications for action	71
Summary	74
Suggested readings/Selected references	75

3. Social cognition: attitudes, values, and interpersonal perception 77

The relationship of attitudes and values	78
The like-dislike dimension in attitudes	79
Value systems	81
Measuring individual and cultural value systems	83
Resistance to changing values	86
Components and functions of attitudes	88
Situational factors in expressing attitudes	91
Unconscious and conscious processes in attitudes	92
The functional approach	92
The self-concept	94
Measuring attitudes	95
Attitude scales	95
Multiple scales: the semantic differential	99
Reliability and validity of attitude measurement	100
Interpersonal perception	102
Some basic perceptual processes	103
Heider's theory of interpersonal perception	106
Cognitive balance and consistency	106
Congruity theory	109
Cognitive dissonance	110

CASES

- Jury selection 80
- How are church-going and civil rights activism related to values? 84
- Answer "yes" or "no" 98
- Judgments from stereotypes 104
- The enemy of my enemy is my friend 111
- Self-handicapping: do people really want to know what they are capable of accomplishing at their best? 118

Contents

Attribution theory	114
Self-attributions	115
Attribution of action	117
Summary	122
Suggested readings/Selected references	123

4. Attitude change: prejudice and persuasion 125

The relationship of attitudes and behavior	127
Situational factors	128
Hurdles to action	129
The dynamics of prejudice	130
Personality factors in prejudice	132
Social acceptance and ego-boasting	134
Negative perspectives on the out-group	135
Reducing prejudice and inter-group tension	136
Inducements, commitments, and reactance	141
Freedom of choice and reactance effects	141
Dissonance reduction after a decision	143
Persuasive appeals	147
Persuasion as a transactional process	148
Credibility of the communicator	149
Order of presentation	153
One- or Two-sided presentations	153
Appeals to fear	155
Persuasibility and present attitudes	162
Persuasibility and personality	165
Persuasibility and self-esteem	165
Techniques of propaganda	166
Summary	170
Suggested readings/Selected references	171

5. Socialization and sex roles 173

The relationship of socialization and adjustment	174
Heredity and environment	176
Physical characteristics and behavior	177
Cultural differences and behavior	177
The human nature fallacy	180
Socialization and learning	181
Dependency and identification	183
Imitation	185
Gender and Sex roles	187

CASES

17. Why voters fail to vote and with what effect 127
18. What happens once they get there? 138
19. How fuel shortages create reactance 144
20. Would you believe a Nobel Prizewinner who said you can do with one hour's sleep a night? 151
21. Courtroom strategy 154
22. Reducing cigarette smoking 158

CASES

23. Intelligence is performance 178
24. "Where did you go?" "Out." "What did you do?" "Nothing." 182
25. The nonsexist use of language 188
26. Sex roles and work 192
27. Women in medicine: what kept them out? 196
28. Is there a double standard in labeling actions? 202

Myths and stereotypes about gender	187
Popular stereotypes of sex roles	191
Stereotypes of occupational roles	195
Gender differences in abilities	197
Gender differences in social behavior	199
Aggression and dominance	199
Behavior in mixed-sex groups	201
Selection as leaders	203
Task performance in groups	205
Androgyny	206
Summary	210
Suggested readings/Selected references	211

6. Conformity and independence 213

Individuality, freedom, and deviancy	214
Individual freedom	214
Conformity and nonconformity	216
Deviancy and labeling	216
Sources of conformity and nonconformity	220
Congruence Conformity and Movement Conformity	220
The Asch experiments	221
The Milgram experiments	224
Resistance to conformity pressure	228
Conformity, anticonformity, and independence	230
Personality factors	233
Effects of conformity and nonconformity	236
Public stands	236
Consistent nonconformity	237
Different motivations	239
Idiosyncrasy credit	241
Achieving independence	247
Summary	252
Suggested readings/Selected references	253

CASES

29. Drug use and drug abuse	218
30. The risky shift	222
31. An all-purpose "State of the Union" address	237
32. Pluralistic ignorance and individual outlooks	242
33. Room to be independent	248

7. Moral development and pro-social behavior 255

Acquiring moral conduct	256
Conscience and responsibility	258
Interpersonal aggression	259
Stages of moral development	259
Peer group and family influences	266
What is the peer group?	267

CASES

34. Henry, what are you doing in jail?	262
35. The soldier who wouldn't shoot civilians at Mylai	264
36. Hostage-taking and pro-social behavior	270
37. In a just world, do people get what they deserve?	282

Contents

The relationship of the peer group and the family 267

Pro-social behavior: helping others 269

Altruism 270

Reactance from fear of involvement 273

Bystander intervention 274

The costs of helping and not helping 278

Children helping a child in distress 278

Sources of resistance to helping 281

Summary 283

Suggested readings/Selected references 284

8. Environmental factors in social behavior 285

What is the environment? 286

Ecological psychology: the study of behavior settings 287

Cultural factors 291

Proxemics: spatial relations in interaction 292

Eye contact 293

Physical closeness and attraction 295

Physical arrangements and group structure 297

Crowding and density 300

Personal space 305

Cultural and sex differences 307

Loss of control and helplessness 307

Privacy and territoriality 310

Territoriality and dominance 312

Applications to quality of life 313

Summary 315

Suggested readings/Selected references 317

CASES

38. Impersonal relations in public 290

39. Crowds and crowd estimates 302

40. Energy saving through feedback 314

9. Social interaction and liking 319

Bases for interaction 320

Variations in interaction 321

Shared expectancies 322

Roles in formal and informal interaction 323

Formal interaction 324

Informal interaction 325

The structure of interaction 325

Role conflict 327

Interpersonal understandings 330

CASES

41. Prison roles 328

42. The costs of lying and of telling the truth 334

43. How much does physical attractiveness matter in dating? 346

44. Do you always hurt the one you love? 356

45. Equity, equality, and need 359

Interdependence, cooperation, and competition	332
Communication, trust and trustworthiness	332
Dominance and power	338
Effects on the self-concept	340
Liking and attraction	343
Bases for attraction	343
Physical attractiveness	345
Achieving a relationship	349
Similarity and complementarity in maintaining attraction	351
Eye contact in romantic relationships	352
Social exchange	353
Rewards and costs	354
Injustice and inequity	356
Comparisons with others' rewards	358
The realities of social exchange	359
Summary	360
Suggested readings/Selected references	361

10. Language and communication 363

Communication processes	365
Confusion of meaning	366
Resistance and misunderstanding	366
The nature and basis of language	367
Theories of the origin of language	369
Elements of language	371
Semantics	372
Differences between written and spoken language	372
Acquiring language	374
Infant learning	375
Childhood learning	376
Developing meaningful utterances	376
Language and experience	381
Linguistic relativity	382
Linguistic codes and influence	383
Denotation and connotation	384
Paralanguage and nonverbal communication	388
Tone of voice, pacing and inflection	389
Inconsistent messages and facial expressions	389
Gestures and bodily posture	391
Immediacy	396
Summary	398
Suggested readings/Selected references	399

CASES

46. English usage in America and Britain	368
47. Whatever Lana wants, Lana gets. Well, almost.	378
48. Baffle-gab	385
49. Making sense of expressions of value	386
50. The eyebrow flash	392

11. Group processes and inter-group relations 401

Sources and kinds of groups 402
 Group membership 405
 Functional groups and descriptive categories 406
 Primary groups 407
 Early field studies of groups 409
 Group structure and group process 410
 Source of structure 411
 Norms and communication patterns 412
 Psychological dimensions of groups 414
 Cohesiveness 417
 Reference group effects 417
 Group size 421
 Group effectiveness: performance and satisfaction 423
 Ways of evaluating effectiveness 423
 Use of resources 425
 Group composition 427
 Inter-group and international relations 428
 Inter-group relations 428
 Psychological factors in group distinctions 430
 Sources of collective aggression 431
 Perceived threat 432
 Symbolic modeling 434
 The in-group and out-group distinction 434
 Managing inter-group conflict 436
 Superordinate goals 438
 Factors affecting war and peace in international relations 438
 Decision-makers 439
 Definition of a conflict 440
 Negotiation and conciliation 443
 Summary 447
 Suggested readings/Selected references 449

CASES

51. Everest climbers 404
 52. Jonestown 414
 53. What must fans do to show they care? 418
 54. High performing systems 424
 55. Hindi 430
 56. Resolving differences at a university 440
 57. Do armaments deter war? 444

12. Leadership, followership, and social change 451

Leader-follower relations as a transaction 452
 Leadership structure 453
 Elements in the leadership process 453
 Leader-follower relations 454
 Major approaches to the study of leadership 458
 The trait approach 458
 The situational approach 459

CASES

58. Encouraging a leader 456
 59. How power corrupts the powerholder 462
 60. Leadership in crisis 466
 61. The charismatic leader 476
 62. Effective leadership is an orchestral performance 486

Sources of leader legitimacy and authority	460
Contingency models	465
Organizational leadership	469
Supervisory style	469
Executive and managerial performance	472
Participation	474
Innovation, social movements, and change	475
Change processes	475
Expectations of followers	478
The leader as innovator	478
Perception of new alternatives	480
Unforeseen effects of technological change	481
Social movements aimed at collective action	482
Features of effective leadership	484
Group effort	484
Leader competence	485
Communicating and defining reality	488
Fairness and dependability	488
Identification and loyalty	489
Summary	490
Suggested readings/Selected references	492
Glossary	493
References	504
Name Index	539
Subject Index	549